Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Pre-Mouse Art

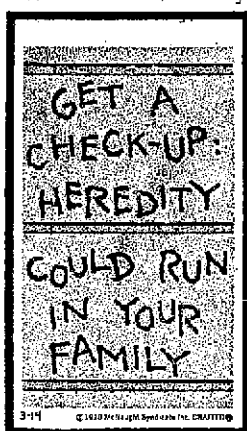

Q. I have an original Walt Disney painting which he did in New York City in 1926. It isn't in perfect condition, but it's still good. Would it be worth anything to a collector? J.E.A., Santa Fe Springs.

A. Probably not. A spokesman for Walt Disney Productions told ACTION LINE it would be difficult to authenticate the painting, as the date of the painting conflicts with Disney's 1923 arrival in California. He added that while Disney Productions is not now in the market for Disney memorabilia, the possibility of setting up Walt Disney archives is being discussed by the Disney family. For additional information you can write to Disney Productions, 500 S. Buena Vista St., Burbank, Calif. 91505. ACTION LINE could find no private art gallery interested in the picture.

Housing Shortage

Q. I understand that servicemen and their families can get a special allowance if they live in privately-owned apartments in this area. We were unable to get an apartment in Naval housing and wonder how we can get this extra allowance. Mrs. P. G., Long Beach.

GRAFFITI by Leary

A. Your Basic Allowance for Quarters probably already is incorporated in your husband's pay, as the allowance is granted automatically to servicemen with dependents who cannot get into Navy housing. Housing Director Phil Bradey told ACTION LINE that all married military personnel on shore duty in the Long Beach-San Pedro area, and all personnel assigned to ships home-ported in Long Beach are eligible for Navy housing. He added, however, that there is a waiting list for all types of housing. The Naval Housing Reference Office, 2001 River Ave., will help you find interim housing while waiting for Naval accommodations.

Rosy Pictures

Q. Can ACTION LINE tell me where I can buy 8mm or Super 8mm color films of the entire Tournament of Roses parade? I am especially interested in the 1969 parade, as my son marched in one of the bands. J.C.B., Lakewood.

A. Films for both the 1969 and 1970 parades are available at Triangle Color Laboratory, 1937 Hillhurst Ave., Hollywood. The 200-foot 8mm film sells for $19.95, and the 220-foot Super 8mm film costs $24.95.

Choir

Q. A few months ago, I saw the International Children's Choir perform, and bought one of their records. On the album cover, it states that there are 90 children in the choir, but I saw only 30 children perform. Does the choir have three groups which take turns performing? I also noticed that the proceeds from the album go to the United Nations Children's Fund, and I would like to know how to send a contribution to this fund. Also, how can a child become a member of the choir, and do the children receive any pay? K.B., Downey.

A. There are 90 members in the International Children's Choir, but the number of children for each performance varies according to the size of the auditorium and the number of children available for the show. The members of the choir, ranging in age from 4 to 13, are Long Beach area residents and most of them have foreign-born parents or grandparents. Each child wears the native costume of a foreign land. The children donate their time and the proceeds from their concerts and record sales go to the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the People to People Foundation and church programs. To obtain information on how to become a member, write to the founder of the choir, Mrs. Easter Beckly, P.O. Box 5856, Long Beach, Calif. 90805. Contributions to UNICEF can be sent to the United Nations Association of Long Beach, 1244 E. Fourth St.

SOUND OFF!

Although I cannot expect any newspaper to act as a humane society, I am requesting action from you and your readers concerning the inhuman and deplorable practice of some local stores selling live tropical fish in sealed plastic containers. These fish are sealed in without proper food, aeration or any regard to maintaining the temperatures necessary to keep them healthy. I operate a pet shop and this sales practice is against all principles of the National Retail Pet Supply Association and can result in nothing but disillusion for the tropical fish hobbyist. J.W., Carson.

HOW TO USE ACTION LINE

When calling or writing with a problem or question, give your name, address and telephone number—not for publication, as only readers' initials are used in the column—but to help ACTION LINE help you. Include pertinent information but please don't send original documents or pictures that you want returned.

The volume of mail makes it impossible to answer or acknowledge every question. Each question, however, is carefully read and considered. Because of the delay in transcribing telephone messages recorded on ACTION LINE's special number, 432-3451, mail requests often receive prompter attention than phone calls.

Persons seeking information contained in past ACTION LINE items may visit the newspapers' library, Room 208, The Independent, Press-Telegram Building, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays for help. Phone calls to ACTION LINE through the regular Independent, Press-Telegram switchboard will not be put through.

$30,000 FROM MAIL ORDER FIRM

Sen. Hartke Contribution Probed

By NEIL SHEEHAN

WASHINGTON — Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana is under investigation to determine whether a contribution of about $30,000 from a leading mail order concern illegally influenced his subsequent championing of postal legislation favorable to the corporation.

Hartke, a Democrat who is up for re-election this year, says that there was no connection between the receipt of the $30,000 from Spiegel, Inc., of Chicago and his position on postal rates legislation that had a multimillion-dollar impact on the company's business. Spiegel executives would not discuss the company's relationships with Hartke.

Spiegel, one of the largest mail order houses in the country, with an annual sales volume in excess of $300 million, was indicted last December by a federal grand jury in Baltimore on charges of bribing former Sen. Daniel

B. Brewster of Maryland with $24,500 to purchase his vote.

Brewster was a member of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee until his defeat in 1968. He had taken positions similar to those of Hartke on legislation affecting Spiegel and other third-class bulk mailers.

In an interview, Hartke denied that he was under investigation by the Justice Department. A Justice Department spokesman declined comment.

But well-informed sources said that an investigation was being made and was in a very preliminary stage. For more than two months, a team of FBI agents has been collecting and analyzing bank records of Hartke's 1964 campaign finances, these sources said.

The investigation is being handled by assistant attorneys from the office of United States Atty. Thomas A. Flannery in Washington and is being closely monitored by Justice Department officials. They are acting under the

State Sues Car Makers

Accuses Companies of Delaying Smog Device Installation

Associated Press

California filed a civil damage suit against the nation's major automobile manufacturers Friday, claiming they conspired in 1961, 1962 and 1964 to delay installation of smog devices on cars.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, paralleled an antitrust suit filed against the manufacturers by the U.S. Justice Department last year and later settled by a consent decree.

The difference in the two suits, Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien told newsmen, is that the federal government filed a criminal complaint while California is seeking civil damages "that may amount to billions of dollars."

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren Friday filed a federal lawsuit against the motor vehicle industry charging the manufacturers with air pollution.

THE FEDERAL government announced last September it was dropping its suit against the auto manufacturers in exchange for assurances that they would develop smog devices on a competitive basis.

The settlement in the form of a consent decree, was opposed by California and other states, but a federal judge ruled there was no legal reason to prevent the agreement.

O'Brien said California decided to go it alone after studying more than 200,000 documents related to the federal antismog suit.

Smog damage to the state's citrus crops runs between $25 million and $100 million a year, he said, while millions of dollars more in expenses are suffered by Californians who are hospitalized with smog-related ailments or who must repaint their homes or cars because of smog damage.

THE SUIT was filed in behalf of California, 30 of the state's 54 counties, and 156 cities. O'Brien said 13 eastern cities who have filed other antismog actions have been asked to consolidate their suits with California's.

Defendants were listed as General Motors, Chrysler, Ford, American Motors, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, Checker Motor Corp., Diamond T. Motor Car Co., International Harvester Co., Studebaker Corp., White Motor Corp., Kaiser, Jeep and Mack Trucks Inc.

O'Brien said one portion of the suit asks automobile manufacturers to reimburse Californians for smog devices that he says will be required on pre-1966 model cars in order to bring them into line with state automobile emission standards.

Navy Pilot Risks Life, Avoids Anaheim Homes

TANGLED WRECKAGE OF NAVY A-4D SMOULDERS IN FIELD NEAR ANAHEIM'S 'BIG A' STADIUM —Staff Photos

Safe After Ejection at 400 Feet

By BOB GEIVET and GEORGE LAINE

A heroic Navy pilot crash-landed his crippled A-4D Skyhawk jet in a vacant field near Anaheim Stadium Friday and was credited with saving the lives of civilians who otherwise might have been killed.

Lt. (j.g.) Leo G. Yoder, 27, of San Diego, said his jet fighter craft developed a "rumble" when he was eight minutes from the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station — nestled amid thousands of homes — and that he decided to head back for an open field he had sighted minutes earlier.

NAVY spokesmen said Yoder took his jet craft down to a level of "no more than 400 feet" before ejecting. The plane exploded and burned in the open field — near the intersection of State College Boulevard and Orangewood Avenue — and the pilot "chuted to the ground only 100 yards east of the blazing aircraft."

"His actual ejection probably took place at about 300 feet from the ground," the Navy spokesman said. "His actions were extremely courageous and in the best Navy tradition."

Yoder and a wingman — Lt. Michael White of Coronado — left North Island Naval Air Station in San Diego at about 2 p.m., Friday, ferrying planes to Los Alamitos. Both pilots are attached to VRF-32, a

Militants Accost Reagan

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan encountered the third angry demonstration in three days of campaigning Friday while dedicating a new police headquarters.

Defying egg throwers, bomb threats and hecklers shouting "siege hell!", Reagan calmly praised the men in blue who protect citizens from "the barbarian jungle."

Before the governor arrived, two nearby government buildings were temporarily evacuated because of bomb threats. There was another bomb threat at a third building.

It was Reagan's first public appearance of the afternoon. His chore was to dedicate San Jose's new $1.2-million police building with Mayor Ronald James and Police Chief Ray Blackmore.

An estimated 350 persons showed up, roughly 200 of them booing, jeering young militants held back by 70 policemen, many of them plainclothesmen.

POT-FETCHIN' PUP PUTS OWNER AWAY

OAKLAND (UPI) — Narcotics officers got help from an unlikely source Friday and found a load of marijuana in the home of a young Oakland man.

While Thomas Kelley, 24, was telling the officers, "There's no grass here," Kelley's puppy, Termitte, pulled off a little trick.

Termitte sauntered into Kelley's bedroom, reappeared in the living room and dropped a kilogram of marijuana at the feet of the narcotics officers.

The pup made another trip to the bedroom, the officers followed, and found 24 more kilos.

Kelley and four friends were booked for possessing marijuana. Termitte was not held.

THE STATE POLL

Finch Tops 3 Senatorial Candidates; Murphy Lags

Robert Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, would be the preferred choice of California voters if he were a candidate for U.S. senator from California, according to The State Poll.

Although Finch, a Republican, has not denied interest in California's Senate race and is clearly the strongest candidate his party can field in the upcoming general election, he has so far maintained that he will not contest incumbent Republican Sen. George Murphy for their party's nomination. This, despite the clear possibility that Murphy could lose in his bid for re-election should he be the Republican candidate.

(This poll was taken before the disclosure this week of Murphy's $20,000-a-year consulting contract with Technicolor, Inc., and use of the firm's credit card.)

On the Democratic side, Congressman John Tunney currently holds a substantial lead over Congressman George Brown Jr. in their race for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

BOTH TUNNEY and Brown do considerably better against Murphy than against Finch when the candidates' performances are compared in a series of simulated general election contests.

These and other findings were developed from survey interviews conducted on Feb. 28, March 1 and 2. This was the weekend immediately following the disturbances at Isla Vista near the University of California at Santa Barbara campus.

In 1,431 personal "in home" interviews a representative cross-section of California voters were presented with a simulated secret ballot and asked to express their preferences in a series of hypothetical senatorial election contests.

The following tables compare the performance of Finch and Murphy

Massacre Suspect Admits Terrorism

Combined News Services

Capt. Ernest L. Medina, commander of an Army unit that swept My Lai in South Vietnam, admitted Friday in a radio interview that he terrorized a Viet Cong suspect.

Medina, who is charged with murder and mutilation, told Stephen Rowan on CBS radio news that he killed a Vietnamese woman suspected of being a Viet Cong guerrilla because he thought she intended to attack him — an admission he has made before. But he also told how he forced a suspect to talk on March 16, 1968, the day after the alleged massacre at My Lai.

"I placed him up against a tree and told my interpreter to tell him to talk or I was going to kill him," Medina, 33, said. "And he said he refused to talk. So I took very careful aim with my rifle and I fired a shot approximately eight inches over his head."

"He said that he refused to talk, so I fired another shot over his head, this time approximately four inches over his head. He refused to talk so I went up and told him that was his last chance and if he didn't talk I was going to kill him."

"I left my weapon on safety and I raised it as if I was going to shoot. That's when he broke down and talked."

PAVEL OUSTED

Josef Pavel, the former interior minister who tried to humanize Czechoslovakia's police apparatus, has been expelled from the Communist Party, it was announced Friday in Prague. Pavel was named interior minister under the regime of Alexander Dubcek in March 1968, and dismantled the apparatus of police terror, fired old-line Stalinists from the ministry and sought to curb the power of the secret police.

BACK TO PRISON

Rudolph Hess, 75, the former Nazi deputy fuhrer, lost his fight for freedom Friday and was returned to four-power Spandau prison in Berlin to serve out his life term. It was decided his stomach ulcer had responded to treatment enough to move him from the nearby British military hospital where he was taken Nov. 24. The Russians blocked a Western Allied plan to free the ailing Nazi and informed sources said it now is clear Hess will die in prison.

LBJ GOES HOME

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, ordered by his doctors to get "plenty of rest," ended a 12-day hospital stay for a heart ailment Friday and drove home to his ranch in Johnson City with his wife Ladybird. Cardiologists at Brooke Army General Hospital in San Antonio said the former president should recover fully from the chest pains, diagnosed as angina pectoris, which forced Johnson into the hospital March 2.

GARDNER RITES

Private memorial services were conducted Friday for Erle Stanley Gardner in Riverside, described by his publisher as "the best selling American author of the century." The simple rites, attended by about 200 close friends and relatives, were in keeping with the mystery novelist's passion for privacy. No casket was in evidence at the last rites and the final resting place of the famed creator of attorney Perry Mason was not disclosed. Gardner, 80, died Wednesday.

LIBERTY QUARTER MODEL DIES

Mrs. Doris Doscher Baum, model for the 1916 Miss Liberty 25-cent piece, died in a Farmingdale nursery home in New York at the age of 88. A newspaper columnist, radio broadcaster, movie actress and professional model, she was in her 30s when sculptor Hermon Atkins MacNeil chose her to pose for the quarter.

QUINTS THRIVING

The parents of the two-and-a-half-week-old Kienast quintuplets said Friday they have hired a business manager to cope with the mounting tide of commercial offers and guest appearances. Mr. and Mrs. William Kienast of Liberty Corners, N.J., whose five babies were reported "just thriving" at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical center in Manhattan, have engaged the New York firm of Complan Inc. to act as their business advisers.

AIR POWER

Alfred V. Verville, 79, an aircraft designer credited with developing the forerunner of U.S. World War II fighter planes, died in La Jolla. He started in aviation with Glenn Curtiss in 1914 and helped design the Curtiss Jenny and Curtiss twin-engine seaplane.

LIZ GETS DICK TIGHT, WINS ROCK

Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor played a game of Ping Pong for what may have been the biggest stakes in the history of amateur sports — the Cartier Diamond. Mrs. Burton won. The actress said she beat her husband by waiting until Burton was so inebriated he was seeing two Ping Pong balls instead of one. Hardly sporting, but then it has been said diamonds are a girl's best friend. The story came out at the Hollywood taping of the David Frost Show, a talk program segment which will be broadcast in the next few weeks.

The Burtons were guests and Mrs. Burton explained how her husband was duped into buying her one of the most expensive diamonds in the world. Burton considers himself an expert Ping Pong player and has consistently defeated his wife. Elizabeth practiced diligently, but was never able to score more than 10 points.

She vowed she would score more than 10 points no matter what. "The day you do," Burton replied, "I'll buy you the biggest diamond in the world."

Mrs. Burton said she waited until the Welshman was in his cups before challenging him to a special match. Elizabeth said she scored 10 points — and more — while Burton hazily swined at the elusive ball. True to his word, Burton bought the Cartier diamond for his wife.

SUICIDE WANTED

The FBI said Friday an airline passenger who shot himself to death and wounded another passenger 33,000 feet over western Nebraska Thursday was wanted in San Francisco on a charge of attempted murder. The dead man was Henry Kellum, 23, a native of Alabama. Kellum, was identified through fingerprints by the FBI.

FACTORS SPLIT

Film producer Donald L. Factor, grandson of the late cosmetic manufacturer, and former fashion model Lynn Paula ended their nine-year marriage Friday in Los Angeles Superior Court. Factor, 35, produced the movie "That Cold Day in the Park" starring Sandy Dennis.

SOPHIA BOOED

Italian photographers, miffed because they hadn't been invited to a party by Sophia Loren, booed the actress Friday night as she left the world premier of the film "Sunflowers" held at the Rome Opera. The American-financed film, shot in the Soviet Union, wasn't received very well by the critics either. Many said it was too melodramatic. Miss Loren's 14-month-old son, Carlo Ponti Jr., fared better. Although he did not attend the premier, he received thunderous applause from the audience when he appeared briefly in the film.

FIFTH SUSPECT

The president of a United Mine Workers local in Tennessee Friday became the fifth person charged with murdering UMW insurgent Joseph A. Yablonski, his wife and daughter. He is Silous Huddleston, 61, father of 29-year-old Annette Gilly, who is one of four Cleveland area residents already charged. Huddleston is president of Local 3228 in LaFollette, Tenn.

VON BRAUN

Dr. Werner von Braun, the German-born rocket pioneer, was sworn in Friday as chief of planning for future U.S. space missions and pledged to work to stretch America's space dollar. He moves to the Washington job from directorship of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala.

Terrorist Bomb Rips Saigon Office in Spending Asked

Combined News Services

SAIGON, Saturday — A plastic bomb damaged a precinct administrative office in Saigon today in the first terrorist bombing reported in the capital in more than two weeks. Police sources said the bomb exploded in front of the 3rd Precinct administrative office shortly before noon, hurling glass through the office. Seven Vietnamese civilians were wounded by the explosion. Two of them were employed of the office and five were customers. Sources said terrorists escaped after placing the charge on the sidewalk in front of the office in the central portion of Saigon. It was the first terrorist bombing reported in the capital since Feb. 27 when a charge set off outside an American enlisted men's quarters injured five persons. On the battlefronts, South Vietnamese infantrymen fought Communist troops Friday in Southern Vietnam, while combat involving American troops was light.

WASHINGTON

The Nixon administration asked Congress Friday to raise the federal spending ceiling $3.2 billion because uncontrollable increases have made it impossible to hold to the old limit. Budget Bureau Director Robert P. Mayo, in a proposed bill and letters to House Speaker John McCormack and Vice President Spiro Agnew, president of the Senate, asked for a new ceiling of $198.9 billion. Mayo said that would give a $1-billion leeway between projected spending and the new ceiling. The requested ceiling would replace one Mayo said now appears "completely unrealistic." It is estimated at $195.7 billion, after allowances Congress wrote in to take care of uncontrollable spending and its own action that might push spending over the original $191.9 billion.

U.S.-Regulated Pension Fund

WASHINGTON — President Nixon proposed Friday that the government regulate for the first time the handling of more than $250 billion in private employee welfare and pension funds that benefit about 50 million workers. Industrial management and unions now are required only to file annual reports with the government on their pension plans, but the government has very little control over how such funds are handled.

Bomb Scare Rock the Nation

NEW YORK — The New York City bomb scare continued Friday with bombs being reported to police at the rate of 30 an hour. Squad cars were sent to every address mentioned, but not one explosive device was found. In the two days of the scare, nearly 400 bomb threats have been received. Other threats and several bombings, including a serious one in Pittsburgh, were reported in what one veteran law enforcement official called the "predictable" result of letting extremism.

$31.5-Million Oil Suit Filed

NEW ORLEANS — Louisiana oyster fishermen, claiming a $31.5-million potential loss, filed a pollution suit against Chevron Oil Co. Friday for causing a 26-mile-long slick — fed by gushes from a blown-out well in the Gulf of Mexico. The oystermen asked in their suit filed in federal court that Chevron be held responsible for any damage up to $31.5 million to their seafood beds off the coast.

Help Needed to Defeat Carswell

WASHINGTON — The Senate began debating the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell Friday with liberals conceding their drive to defeat him would fail without Republican support. Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott, whose opposition helped defeat Judge Clement F. Haynsworth's nomination last year, gave the leadoff speech in support of Carswell. "He may not be in accord with my views," Scott said, but "no one questions his integrity or judicial temperament." Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader in the fight to block Carswell, said the nomination would be approved "unless we can get a dozen or so Republicans."

Protestants Seek Largest Church

ST. LOUIS — Representatives of nine Protestant denominations Friday approved a plan to unite before the end of this decade and create the biggest Protestant church in the world. The vote was unanimous and the plan now goes to the individual denominations for reaction. The new church would be called "The Church of Christ Uniting."

Cambodia Orders Reds Out

PHNOM PENH — Cambodia Friday ordered North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces of invading its territory and ordered them to get out by dawn Sunday. The government backed up the demand by announcing plans for a 10,000-man increase in the military draft. Acting after demonstrators sacked the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong embassies in three days of riots that were spreading into the provinces, Premier Lon Nol disclosed the order in a statement saying the anti-Communist uprising reflected the feelings of the Cambodian people. Identical notes sent to Hanoi and the Viet Cong said Cambodia was "exasperated over the territorial violations, encroachments and occupation by forces" fighting under Communist banners.

Copter 'Kill' Reports Conflict

VIENTIANE — U.S. fighter-bombers caught what the pilots identified as a camouflaged North Vietnamese helicopter on the ground in the Ho Chi Minh Trail area of southern Laos and destroyed it, informants said Friday. Another source said later it was "dubious" whether the chopper was North Vietnamese. The U.S. Command in Saigon had reported the loss of a South Vietnamese H-14 helicopter in the same region some time ago. This contradicted earlier reports that the destroyed helicopter had been identified from aerial photographs as a Soviet-made Mi4.

Israeli Jets Attack Egypt

TEL AVIV — Israel sent its jets into action three times against Egypt Friday. Egypt said five civilians were killed and 35 injured in one of the raids. An Egyptian spokesman also said Egyptian guns scored direct hits on an Israeli armored vehicle carrying 15 soldiers in the southern Suez Canal sector, destroying the vehicle. The shelling also destroyed a tank, but no casualty figures were given. In the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip, Arab guerrillas sprayed a bus with bullets in Rafah, wounding the driver who was waiting to take Arab workers to their jobs on Israeli projects, a Tel Aviv spokesman said.

West Germans Not Optimistic

BONN — West German officials warned Friday against pinning high hopes on next week's one-day meeting in Communist territory of Chancellor Willy Brandt with East German Prime Minister Willi Stoph. But both sides assume Brandt and Stoph will have at least one more confrontation, somewhere in West Germany, officials said. It will be the first West-East German meeting of heads of government since the rival states were established 21 years ago.

TECHNOLOGY CALLED INEFFECTIVE

Cranston, Flournoy Ask Drilling Halt

ALAN CRANSTON
... Guinea Pigs

United Press International

The U.S. senate subcommittee on minerals, materials and fuels opened two days of hearings in Santa Barbara Friday and heard Sen. Alan Cranston say that Santa Barbara, Louisiana, Florida and Alaska "are guinea pigs in a disastrous technological experiment."

The committee is looking into legislation aimed at averting another disastrous spill in the channel such as occurred on a federal lease Jan. 28, 1969.

The California Democrat referred to oil wells and oil spills in the four states. Cranston said:

"All of these... prove what engineers, government experts, scientists, the people of Santa Barbara and even the oil industry have been saying for a long time: We do not have the technology to deal effectively with oil spills, oil well blowouts or fires on water."

He added the oil well drilling "not only threatens wildlife and beaches but the future of the ocean itself."

Cranston called on President Nixon to declare a moratorium on all oil drilling on federal tidelands until the safety of coastlines can be guaranteed.

"This failure to develop techniques and systems for dealing with oil spills, oil well blowouts and oil well fires on the ocean is the fundamental reason why I have repeatedly called for an end to the drilling in the Santa Barbara channel," he said.

State Controller Houston Flournoy also appeared on the first day of the hearing and said current oil containment safety measures on federal tidelands in the Santa Barbara channel were "obviously inadequate."

Flournoy said no further drilling "should take place on federal leases — apart from the seepage control — until adequate safety devices are available to protect the public interest."

He is chairman of the state lands commission, which has put a moratorium on any new drilling on coastal lands under its jurisdiction.

"We are highly concerned about the present federal policy currently allowing exploratory drilling on existing federal leases in the Santa Barbara channel," Flournoy said.

U.S. Gov. Ed Reinecke sent a statement to the committee and said that California should be allowed to install monitoring devices on federally leased offshore wells to measure oil pressure buildup.

"Safety Inadequate"

Rats Said Infesting Orange Co. Cities

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

Infestations of roof rats in some "older" areas of Orange County and its cities is becoming so serious the County Health Department is thinking of mounting a major eradication campaign.

It wants financial aid from the cities, according to Roy Eastwood, entomologist for the health department, and Robert Stone, chief of the division of environmental sanitation.

An eradication program would cost in the neighborhood of $75,000 and would be concentrated in La Habra, Brea, Placentia, Yorba Linda, Fullerton, Buena Park, Anaheim, Villa Park, Orange and Tustin.

A census of rat populations showed that, in some "older areas," they are a problem in one out of four houses, Eastwood said.

THE ROOF rat is a small creature which can hide itself in attics or trees. It feeds on fruits and nuts, and from garbage cans.

Eastwood said that an epidemic "could" spread from the rats, and he recommended eradication of as many of them as possible.

Mostly, the eradication is by poisoning. Rat, non-palatable to children is spotted strategically on roofs and in trees, with permission of the homeowners.

If the cities contribute financially, a stepped-up program will be undertaken. It will include trapping.

Beach areas have a different breed of rat to handle; the Norwegian wharf rat, essentially a creature which burrows into a hiding place, is found along the coast. Thus far, it presents no control problem, Eastwood said.

Marine Shot in Holdup

Camp Pendleton authorities Friday investigated a holdup near the base in which a 26-year-old private was shot in the thigh.

A brawl between Negro and Caucasian Marines was also under investigation.

Pvt. Clarence Brown, a Negro, of Little Rock, Ark., and Pfc. Lucky Cox, a Caucasian, said they were walking along Lower Rattlesnake Canyon Road Thursday night when four men in a small foreign car drew up beside them and, at pistol-point, demanded their wallets.

A STRUGGLE for the pistol ensued and Brown was wounded in his upper right thigh. Camp Pendleton spokesmen said. The four attackers sped off in the car.

Also under investigation was a Thursday night brawl between Negro and white Marines at the Pendleton enlisted men's club.

Military police restored order, and six men were taken to the base hospital and were released later after being treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Camp Pendleton has been the scene of several previous racial disturbances.

Typewriter Stolen

Burglars took a $400 typewriter from the office of Barney's Hole Digging Service, 3252 Cherry Ave., after smashing a window to gain entry, police reported Friday.

'Subsidy' County Areas Get From City Taxes Disputed

City and county officials squabbled again Friday over how much unincorporated areas are being "subsidized" by city taxpayers.

County Chief Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger said an analysis of the county budget shows that residents of unincorporated area may be benefiting by about $5 million a year under the current tax structure.

BUT HOLLINGER conceded that his counterpart at City Hall — City Administrative Officer E. Brown Piper — studied the same figures and concluded ed the disparity is almost $19.8 million.

The difference stems from computations in sales tax revenues. Hollinger has taken the position that all local sales and cigarette taxes should be included in the calculations.

At present the county gets sales and cigarette tax income based on the point of sale. Each city gets its own share of revenue based on point of sale.

THIS results in a considerable variation from city to city in the per capita income from this source. For instance the tiny, rich industrial city of Vernal receives $13.059 per resident; Commerce has $165.97 and Beverly Hills $74.74. Los Angeles has a per capita take of $22.95.

Overall the per capita sales tax income within the 77 cities is $24.02 while that for unincorporated areas is $9.16.

Thus, Hollinger said, the residents of more thinly-developed unincorporated areas are buying goods and cigarettes — and paying taxes — within nearby cities.

HOLLINGER said that when the sales tax is allocated on the basis of population there is about a $15 million difference — approximately the amount that he and Piper are apart on their figures.

The latest report is one of a series which have been written after city councilmen have complained that the city is being "shortchanged."

Chief critic of the existing tax structure has been Councilman Ernani Bernardi, who has insisted that special tax districts should be set up in unincorporated areas.

Ex-Officer Begins Burglary Sentence

A former Anaheim motorcycle officer who moonlighted as a part-time burglar began serving a one-to-15-year sentence at Chino Prison Friday.

John C. Windsor, 36, was sentenced for second-degree burglary by Judge James F. Judge in Santa Ana Superior Court after abandoning his defense.

He had been an Anaheim police officer for nine years before his Sept. 13 arrest.

Another suspect arrested with Windsor, 25-year-old Thomas W. Amend, is scheduled for trial April 15. Both men were nabbed in what police called an attempt to burglarize a business equipment office.

Anaheim police had also lodged a second charge of burglary and one charge of auto theft against Windsor. But the court dropped those charges after the ex-officer pleaded guilty to the original charge.

RAFFERTY TERMED 'PERIL TO SYSTEM'

Associated Press

The head of the Los Angeles city schoolteachers' union said Friday "bungling by Max Rafferty" — not a possible teachers strike — imperils the state's education system.

Robert Ransom, president of the United Teachers of Los Angeles, told a news conference he was incensed by a comment by Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, that "teachers strikes are strikes against children."

"We reply that Max Rafferty by his bungling and incessant political activity has been on strike against the children for eight years," he said.

He said Rafferty lashed out at the possible Los Angeles teachers' strike "to take the heat off" himself in his dispute with legislative analyst A. Alan Post. The analyst earlier this week said Rafferty had wasted public funds and failed to provide educational leadership.

Krenwinkel's Attorney Files to Disqualify Judge

United Press International

The attorney for Patricia Krenwinkel, a defendant in the Sharon Tate murders, filed a motion Friday to disqualify the judge on grounds he is prejudiced against her.

In the affidavit, known as "peremptory challenge," deputy public defender Paul Fitzgerald claimed that Miss Krenwinkel, 22, would not get a fair trial from Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge William B. Keene. Under California law, Fitzgerald does not have to prove the allegation.

The affidavit was filed with Keene, who transferred it to Superior Court Judge George M. Dell, presiding jurist of the criminal court's master calendar. Dell indicated he would rule at a later date.

Miss Krenwinkel, Charles Manson, Susan Atkins, Linda Kasabian and Leslie Van Houten currently are scheduled to go on trial March 30. A sixth defendant, Charles Watson, 21, still is fighting extradition from Texas.

BACKS REAGAN TAX SHIFT

State Board of Education Opposes School Aid Plan

Associated Press

The State Board of Education voted Friday to oppose the California Teachers Association's tax reform proposal and officials of the CTA said they were not surprised.

But Harry Fosdick, assistant executive secretary of the CTA, said he was "amazed" that the board would endorse a competing plan presented to the Legislature by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"I'm amazed that the board could support such an utterly ridiculous thing as the Bagley bill," Fosdick said of the Reagan plan introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Anselmo.

Bagley, one of the architects of the Reagan administration's $1 billion tax shift program, is chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Fosdick contended the Reagan proposal would "raise school property taxes in almost every district" and that it provides "not a dime of new money for education."

But the board meeting in Sacramento, agreed with its president, Howard Day, in opposing the CTA proposal. Prop. 8 on the June primary ballot, Day said he is against Prop. 8 for two reasons: "It doesn't tell the people where the money is coming from," and California education "should stand on its own two feet and go before the people on its own basis."

The CTA and the County Supervisors Association of California joined forces to get their plan on the ballot.

If approved by the voters in June, it would order the state to take over $1.13 billion worth of education and welfare costs a year from local government, but leaves it up to the legislature to raise the money.

Reagan's plan, which would raise sales and income taxes to pay for reductions in the property tax, would lift a $645 million burden from local government the first year.

On other money matters, the board voted to ask the legislature for an additional $433,000 to provide reading textbooks for the lower grades in elementary schools.

The increase would be added to a proposed $213 million textbook budget now before the legislature.

About the content and treatment of subject matter in textbooks, the board reaffirmed its policy that evolution be taught as theory and not as a fact. The policy is several years old and was subject of hearings some months ago.

Dr. John Summers, a Sacramento physician, appeared before the board and protested its policy. He insisted that evolution be taught as a fact because he said, "Evolution is the keystone in the understanding of life."

29 Million Cross from Tijuana

The busiest border crossing from Mexico got busier last year by 7.2 per cent.

A report issued Friday by the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau said there were 29,343,390 crossings from Tijuana to San Ysidro.

20th Anniversary of FBI '10 Most Wanted' List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI celebrates the 20th anniversary of its "Ten Most Wanted" list of fugitives today with just nine most-wanted persons being hunted nationwide, one of them for more than five years.

The FBI considers it part of the program's success that once a criminal is put on the list, his capture usually follows promptly. A 10th fugitive soon will be added to the list to replace Joseph Lloyd Thomas, who was arrested at Peoria, Ill., March 8 for bank robbery and violating federal parole.

The most-wanted man wanted the longest is John William Clouser, an escapee from a Florida mental hospital who, boasting he would never be taken alive, has eluded his pursuers since Jan. 7, 1965.

The FBI says that by comparison, average length of time for apprehending a top 10 fugitive is 110 days, or less than four months. In a statistical composite of the 286 fugitives caught in the past 20 years, the FBI found his average age was 37, he weighed 166 pounds and stood 5 feet 9 inches tall.

Thomas, one of only five men who have been on the list twice, is the only most-wanted fugitive arrested so far this year.

Frederick J. Tenuta had the dubious distinction of being longest on the list. He was sought for 13 years and 10 months for murder before being dropped as presumed dead. Charles Lorin Gove, an escaped convict, was listed for the shortest time — barely a day. Others have been caught before the FBI could announce they were being added to the list.

Only two women have ever made what criminals call the "big time." They were Ruth Elsenmann-Schier, arrested in the kidnapping of heiress Barbara Jane Mackle, and Marie Dean Arrington, currently wanted for double murder.

The top 10 list was devised in 1950 by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and his associates and William K. Hutchinson, Washington bureau chief of the former International News Service for joint distribution by the wire services. INS merged with United Press in 1958 to become United Press International.

Besides Clouser and Miss Arrington, the current list includes Charles Lee Harron, sought since Feb. 9, 1968, for killing a policeman in Nashville, Tenn.; Taylor Morris Teaford, wanted for the murder of his grandmother in Madera County, Calif.; Byron James Rice, charged with killing an armored car guard in Mountain View, Calif.; Warren David Raddock, a paroled forger accused of killing a real estate business associate in Chicago Sept. 28, 1968.

Also, Cameron David

Bishop, charged with sabotage in the dynamiting of Colorado power transmission towers Feb. 14, 1969; Benjamin Hoskins Paddock, who escaped from a federal corrections institution at La Tuna, Tex., Dec. 31, 1968, while serving a 20-year sentence for bank robbery, and James John Byrnes, wanted for kidnapping a Stafford, Kan., policeman Jan. 26, 1969.

U.S. Charges Pollution in Power Firm Suit

WASHINGTON — The Senate passed, 64 to 12, Friday a voting-rights bill that runs counter to legislation passed by the House and recommended by President Nixon.

It extends for five years key sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, designed primarily to prevent discriminatory denial of the franchise to Negroes in the south.

The Administration requested, and the House approved last December by a five-vote margin, a broader bill that would treat all states alike.

THE MEASURE passed by the Senate, after two weeks of debate, also would lower the voting age to 18 in all elections after Jan. 1, 1971 and suspend the use of voter literacy tests in all states.

In addition, it requires states to permit persons to register to vote in presidential elections up to 3 days before the election. And persons who moved to a state too late to qualify would be permitted to vote by absentee ballot or in person in the state where they formerly resided.

The main issue in the Senate was whether to substitute for the House-passed Administration bill a measure to extend the 1965 act keeping Southern states subject to the key provisions of the 1965 Act.

THE SUBSTITUTE, offered by Republican leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., was approved by a 51-22 vote just before final action on the amended legislation.

Since passage of the 1965 act, nearly a million Southern Negroes have been registered as voters. Supporters of the act have called it the most effective civil rights legislation in the nation's history.

Senate opposition to the House-passed Administration bill centered only secondarily on its nationwide application of the ban on literacy tests.

Of more concern to civil rights advocates was the elimination of a requirement that the states covered get prior approval from the attorney general of any changes in election laws.

Bill Seeks New Disaster Agency

By ERNIE HERNANDEZ
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Creation of a new federal office of Disaster Assistance, with annual funds of $45 million to $200 million, is proposed in a bill announced Friday.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., author of the bill which is expected to have 35 to 40 co-sponsors by the time it's filed March 21, said the new federal agency in effect would abolish two government bureaus — the Office of Emergency Preparedness and the Office of Civil Defense.

Bayh is chairman of the Senate public works subcommittee on disaster relief, which recently completed hearings on hurricane Camille, which caused 248 deaths and $1.5 billion in property damage along the Gulf Coast.

BAYH SAID his bill — to be called the "Omnibus disaster assistance act of 1970" — would bring together in one act all disaster laws passed in the last 20 years.

"Much of the present disaster relief legislation has been piecemeal in nature," he said. He criticized "overlapping jurisdictions" of civil defense, OEP, the Small Business Administration and other agencies handling disaster relief.

According to the Bayh bill, all of the functions of Civil Defense (a branch of the Department of the Army), and OEP, which operates out of the President's executive office, would be transferred to the new ODA.

Civil Defense as a national organization would thus cease to exist. Bayh remarked the Department of the Army might be reluctant to give up Civil Defense.

"There might be a cry that we would not be able to defend ourselves against adversaries hiding under our beds," he said.

BUT ABOLITION of Civil Defense nationally wouldn't be necessarily result in disbanding the CD as state-controlled, state-financed operations, said a Bayh aide.

The OEP wouldn't be stripped of all of its functions by the Bayh bill. It would still have its task of stockpiling emergency supplies and foods and it would still coordinate the President's Buy-American program.

However, since most of its job would be turned over to the ODA, it probably would be wise for the President to abolish it and transfer its stockpiling and Buy-American functions to other bureaus, said Bayh's aide.

A main feature of the bill is a national insurance program which would enable property owners to buy comprehensive high-risk major disaster insurance.

The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development would be authorized to set up a national major disaster insurance fund for payment of claims and expenses. But such a federal insurance program would be started only if the insurance industry failed by June 30, 1971, to set up its own system.

Once a federally-acceptable, or federally-operated, disaster insurance program is in operation, expensive disaster relief would be available only to those with insurance.

Bayh's bill doesn't seek specific amounts of federal funds which could range from a low of $45 million — depending on the number and force of disasters in a given year.

JACKIE TO SKIP HER PORTRAIT HANGING

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Aristotle Onassis will not go to Washington for the installation of her portrait by Aaron Shickler at the White House, a spokesman for the former first lady said Friday.

Nancy Tuckerman said Shickler will send the portrait to Carter Brown, director of the National Gallery, within the next three weeks and the White House Historical Association will decide when and where in the executive mansion it will be hung.

Mrs. Onassis and her Greek shipping magnate husband will leave next week for Greece for a three-week vacation coinciding with the Easter school vacation of her two children, John and Caroline.

TED POSTPONES DRAFT HEARING

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., postponed indefinitely Friday projected hearings into charges the draft lottery held last December was unfair.

The assistant Democratic leader said he had been assured by Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., that the Senate Armed Services Committee will study the matter thoroughly during hearings on draft legislation in April.

He said he had determined to air the matter before a subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure he heads but is now convinced it will be studied thoroughly by the Armed Services Committee.

IN FACE OF INFLATION

U.S. to Restrict Home Building

By LOU CANNON
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Nixon Administration, responding to the threat of tight money and mounting inflation, will cut back on the nation's housing construction goals, it was indicated here Friday.

An Administration source said the second annual report on national housing goals, scheduled to be released Sunday, will call for a two-year reduction in publicly-assisted housing.

In testimony before Congress last month Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney also anticipated a reduction of 100,000 units in privately financed housing.

The first report on national housing goals, issued in January 1969 primarily reflected the outlook of the Johnson Administration.

THE SECOND report is expected to call for 450,000 publicly-assisted housing starts in 1970 instead of the 500,000 anticipated in the first report. Projections for 1971 will be 545,000 housing starts instead of the 625,000 envisioned in the first report.

These cutbacks, more than anything else, reflect the present shortage of mortgage funds for home construction. The Administration source who made the figures available indicated that it was "doubtful" whether even the reduced goals would be met.

Housing starts declined nearly 30 per cent in the final quarter of 1969 compared with the same period a year ago.

FCC Asks TV-Bribes Inquiry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission Friday ordered an inquiry into allegations that television stations have used bribes in efforts to obtain coveted affiliation with one of the three networks.

The brief, unanimous order made no reference to who had made the allegations or what, if any, stations might be involved.

Variety, the show business newspaper, recently published reports alleging such practices.

The FCC simply ordered "an inquiry into alleged practices of broadcast licensees or permittees (including any networks) involving payments to employees or officers of networks to influence the grant of network affiliations . . ."

This trend has alarmed home builders.

"It is almost beyond belief that we can allow an industry that has proven to be a great national resource aimed at solving a basic problem to be crippled so seriously," said Louis R. Barba, president of the National Association of Homebuilders in testimony here last month.

HE POINTED out that construction is running about one million units behind the 2.6 million units that would have to be built every year to meet the national goal of 26 million units in 10 years set by HUD in 1968.

The new projections make it even less likely that the long-term goal will be met. However, the Nixon Administration plans a variety of legislative proposals this year that would provide additional government backing for mortgages and help create a secondary mortgage market.

EXTENDS 1965 PROVISIONS

Senate Voting-Rights Bill Counter to Nixon's

WASHINGTON — The Nixon Administration filed suit Friday, charging the Florida Power and Light Co. with thermal pollution of Biscayne Bay just south of Miami.

The complaint contended that heated water being discharged from two power plants is rapidly ruining marine life in the bay, including an area encompassed by the Biscayne National Monument.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the suit, filed in Miami federal court, alleges the thermal pollution damages will be even greater when two planned nuclear power plants are installed at the existing sites.

THE FILING marks the first time the government has brought a suit to halt thermal pollution, although the Justice Department during earlier administrations acted against water pollution at St. Joseph, Mo., and air pollution at a plant on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

The complaint against the Florida utility company was filed upon the recommendation of Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel, who had tried unsuccessfully to get the firm to refrain from the alleged pollution.

Hickel said operation of the nuclear plants would contravene "the interest of the United States in the fragile ecology of Biscayne National Monument."

President Nixon has a home on Biscayne Bay.

Florida Power & Light, in a statement late Friday, said its cooling system had been approved by local pollution control authorities after months of study.

FP&L Vice President Gene Aubrey said that, by construction of its proposed cooling system, the utility was "protecting the environment and complying with the only numerical temperature standard that is in existence as law at the present time."

The suit asks that the power company be forced to modify any operation that results in thermal pollution.

IT ASKS ALSO that the firm submit to the court within 45 days a plan to eliminate destruction of the natural environment caused by the power plant operation.

And it seeks to halt construction of a 5½-mile canal designed to carry heated water discharge from the projected nuclear plants into Card Sound, a contiguous body of water at Biscayne Bay's southern tip.

Hollywood-Based Crews Get Jobs on Four Films

MOVIES HOLLYWOOD — With thousands jobless, many sound stages empty, movie labor has some good news: four films to be made with Hollywood-based crews.

Originally the four were to be filmed out of Hollywood with non-Hollywood crews, said Charles S. Boren, executive vice-president of the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers. But one will be shot here, and all four will use crews from Hollywood.

Oistrakh, Mehta, L.A. Philharmonic Offer More Than Memorable Night

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

David Oistrakh's two Pavilion appearances with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, this weekend, brought a special bonus for the Soviet violinist's many local followers: he played not one, but two, concerted pieces with Zubin Mehta and our major symphonic organization.

The Brahms Concerto was the program's principal work, occupied the all-important post-intermission spot, and was given a reading of breadth and projection, despite an erratic accompaniment. But the real joy here came before the interval, in Oistrakh's stunning account of Prokofiev's First Concerto.

DAVID OISTRAKH
Never More Masterful

trakh's stunning account of Prokofiev's First Concerto.

STRANGELY enough, one minor accident — Oistrakh left his mute on at the beginning of the second movement, had to stop, take it off, and begin the movement again — convinced some listeners that the celebrated fiddler was having an off-night.

On the contrary: in recent seasons, we have never heard him play more masterfully, or with more projected concentration, or with such telling tonal variety, than on this occasion. If he had left town after the Prokofiev, it would have been a memorable night. Since he remained to re-investigate the depths of the Brahms, it was even more than that.

Under the circumstances, one had to admire the very interested and cooperative collaboration Mehta tried to provide. And, in matters of timing, it was admirable, since soloist and orchestra stayed at any given moment, kissing-close. But the Brahms, in particular, he played too little recent rehearsal in haphazard dynamic values and in some surprisingly ragged attacks.

The evening began with an unexplained substitution: in place of the scheduled Symphony No. 92 of Haydn, we had Mozart's "Prague" Symphony. It went well enough, especially in a buoyant finale. But here, too, a lack of adequate rehearsal could be surmised from the disagreement, twice in the first movement, and once again in the Andante, over accidentals. Accidentals, indeed.

TELE-VUES

The Bra and Girdle Foundation for Great Debate

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

One of the great debates going on inside TV these days is on the bra and girdle question.

Currently, when you see these ladies' foundation garments pictured on TV, you don't see live models, or photos of live models — unless they're fully clothed. It's prohibited by the National Association of Broadcasters Television Code, a voluntary sort of thing.

What you do see in the commercials is the live model fully clothed, then you see a sort of vanishing female with the bra and girdle just floating in the air.

I have been vaguely aware of this issue but it has never seemed of particular interest, possibly because the models aren't live and in color.

The Code Authority originally figured that it ought to protect the sensitive viewers from exposure to actually TV. But, Code people apparently have been watching TV. Another poll of members is going to be taken to see how they feel about changing this policy.

As Stockton Helffrich, director of the Code Authority, noted in a memo to subscribers: standards of acceptability have undergone change during the past 11 years. "The Code Review Board believes, therefore, that subscribers should be polled on this sensitive issue in order to have a better understanding of attitudes as reflected by the subscriber's knowledge of the community he serves."

You ever think of a TV station as a "community service?"

"CODE NEWS," the publication of the NAB authority, also has a few words of reminder to members about astrology, horoscopes and like subjects in this Age of Aquarius.

These include reminders that the program should open and end with a "disclaimer" — noting that it's for entertainment only and that the "stars do not in any way control or influence man's actions and that man, through his own efforts, determines his fate."

Nor should astrology-horoscope programs contain specific advice to individuals; they should be general and nonspecific as possible on such "sensitive subjects as love, loneliness, romance, medical matters, finances and business;" and "to the degree possible, references to the fallibility of the 'stars' and of astrology/horoscope character readings should be included in the programs." You sort of get the idea the Code people don't really believe in the stuff?

PLAY LEAD, WIN PRIZE

LONDON W — Sir Laurence Olivier was named the best supporting actor of 1969 by Britain's Society of Film and Television Arts Sunday night.

"It is encouraging that this honor comes to me so early in my career," said Sir Laurence as he received the award at the Palladium. "The secret of being best supporting actor is to play lead roles."

The award was given for his performance in "Oh, What a Lovely War."

Maria Callas Marrying Director 'a Crazy Idea'

PARIS (UPI) — Maria Callas' Paris press agent has denied emphatically a German newspaper story the opera diva would marry Italian film maker Piero Paolo Pasolini.

"That's completely crazy," the spokesman said. "It makes me laugh. Are you out of your mind?"

Miss Callas, who recently made her movie premiere in Pasolini's film version of "Medea," left this week for South America to promote the film with the director.

The German newspaper (Bildzeitung) said the couple would be married Sunday in Punta Del Este, Uruguay.

Japan Hopes to Achieve World's Highest Per Capita Income

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business Editor

TOKYO — There is room for American businessmen here in the midst of the world's third biggest economy.

Seventy-six members of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Expo 70 tour heard this and other surprising economic facts at a special briefing beginning their first day in this city of nearly 12 million.

Arranged by the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan, the briefing at the Palace Hotel included talks by Donald Marsh, vice president Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York, and George Purdy, president, Dresser Japan, Ltd.

"By 1988," Marsh said, "if the Japanese economy continues its present 11 per cent annual growth rate, this country will have the highest per capita income in the world."

Purdy had a word of caution to the Long Beach delegation, headed by H.

George Hanawalt, president:

"Living costs here are high. Apartments are expensive with six months rent in advance.

"Streets in Tokyo are not named or numbered," Purdy added, "and to locate here would mean your office would be reached by a general precinct directive.

"Promissary notes in Japan are treated as postdated checks — and, if one doesn't clear, the firm loses all banking privileges for three years, tantamount to going out of business."

The Chamber group also heard Purdy say the Japanese are "not as profit-minded as we are. In the case of a recession, we lay off people; not here, for the Japanese keep their people and keep things going. They'll do business at no profit at all or even at a loss."

Other briefing speakers included Charles Replane, manager, Far East for Commercial Hydraulics, explaining methods of opening branch offices in Japan; John Shaw, counselor for commercial affairs—American Embassy, declaring trade relations "are quite good" between the U.S. and Japan, and William Young, director Far East Virginia State Ports Authority, underlining local competition and how success in business by the Japanese is a "matter of national pride."

The vice mayor of Tokyo, unable to attend, sent representatives to welcome the Long Beach group.

The delegation then toured the 400-square-mile city by bus, with sightseeing including the Imperial Palace and the 1964 Olympic facilities.

The next two days is free time for members of the delegation to meet with business counterparts and for factory tours.

Still to come, before attending the opening of Expo 70 at Osaka, are visits at Nikko, Kamakura, Hakone and Nagoya.

NEAR OLYMPIC SWIM STADIUM Dwight Jenkins, vice president of Home Savings & Loan Association, chats with Miss Marion Tripeny and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Tripeny.

YORKTOWNE UNIT TO SHOW HOMES SUNDAY AFTERNOON

DISTINCTIVE HOMES with Cape Cod and New England appearance open Sunday at the Shields Development Co. community of Yorktowne in Huntington Beach.

The long-awaited opening of the third unit of 1970 model homes at the Shields Development Co. community of Yorktowne will be held Sunday from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. in Huntington Beach, it was announced by Dick Kurth, of Kurth & Associates, exclusive sales agents for the development.

Refreshments, courtesy of the Southern California Edison Co. will be served in the model homes at 9861 Frederick Circle.

Built by pioneer developer Lawrence P. Shields, these Yorktowne homes incorporate all of the latest innovations the building industry has to offer, Kurth said, including many features which would normally only be found on more expensive homes.

Priced from $26,995, the homes are one and two-story, with two, three or four bedrooms and all come complete with the popular Shields "turn-key" package. This includes carpets, drapes, fencing and a built-in Gaffers & Sattler Medallion kitchen, said Kurth.

"Another excellent feature about these homes is that the two-bedroom models can be expanded with minimum of cost and effort," he added, noting that this feature was only one of many which makes Yorktowne ideal for a growing family.

Located only minutes from the ocean and some of the finest beaches in California, Yorktowne residents have year-round mild climate and the huge playground of the Pacific practically at their back door, he said.

Other conveniences include the nearby schools — from a grade school within the community to high schools and colleges — and two of the most modern shopping centers in the Southland.

Located within walking distance and across only one secondary street is the public John B. Bushard School with grades kindergarten through eight. The high school is within walking distance also although school buses do serve the community.

Less than a ten-minute ride away is the famous Huntington Shopping Center with its several major department stores and nearly 60 small specialty shops. Other smaller centers are also close by and the elegant South Coast

Plaza is a short drive down the coast from Yorktowne.

The new models at Yorktowne are part of the third unit of homes in the community and have been included as part of the overall master plan, which is to make the entire community blend together, while maintaining the feel of "custom built" in each of the homes.

To reach this "best buy of 1970" drive south on Brookhurst from the Garden Grove, Santa Ana or San Diego Freeways and turn right on Yorktown Ave. to the models, one block west of Brookhurst. Furnished and landscaped models are open daily from 10 a.m. until dusk.

Cerritos 'Rancho' Has Fine Homes

Rancho La Cuesta in Cerritos is a group of distinctive homes built by Frank H. Ayres & Son, creators of residential communities since 1905. Builder Don Ayres Jr.'s faith in the steady growth and popularity of Cerritos prompted him to be one of the first to build homes in the community, which is making an orderly transition from agricultural use to residential, commercial and industrial.

Rancho La Cuesta, located on Artesia Ave. at Shoemaker, offers one and two-story homes with three and four bedrooms, two and three bathrooms. There are four furnished and decorated model homes and a sales office open daily to demonstrate the variety of floorplans and exterior stylings available.

The homes sell for $24,990 to $32,600, according to sales manager Fred Veiga.

Though Rancho La Cuesta is in its eighth and final unit there is ample time for buyers to select lot locations, floorplans and exterior stylings.

The community is ideally located near the Artesia, Santa Ana, San Gabriel River (605) and San Diego Freeways. Beach Boulevard (39), a main arterial between the San Bernardino and San Diego Freeways is also close by.

Free decorator services are offered at this and other Ayres communities.

CATHEDRAL CEILING, MEXICAN FIREPLACE ENHANCE SAN JOSE MODEL.

Big Spenders Live It Up Unscared by 'Recession'

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite sagging corporate profits, a floundering stock market and talks of recession, the merchants of expensive furs, diamonds and jewelry are booming along, a survey of exclusive New York shops indicates.

Take Audemars Piguet Watch Co., Inc. which features a $65,000 watch with a solid diamond crystal. "We have no more trouble selling it today than a few years ago," said president Morton Lippman. "And we are selling more of the lower cost, $3,000 to $4,000, models."

Lippman feels the luxury market tends to remain steady even in difficult times because people who want and can afford quality always will be around, and they rationalize such purchases as investments.

Michael Thomas, 44, president of Cartier, Inc., the Fifth Avenue mecca for the monied set, agrees. "Nothing that Cartier's sales of fine jewelry and watches are better today than ever, he said, "It all boils down to a matter of good taste and the investment value." It was Cartier which sold the pear-shaped 69-carat diamond for more than $1 million late last year to the Richard Burtons of acting fame.

Cartier's parent company, the Kanton Corporation, is pinning much of its future on the luxury market. Kanton also owns Valentino high fashions, Ben Kahn Furs, Georges Kaplan Furs, Kenneth J. Lane high styled costume jewelry and Mark Cross Leather Goods. Robert H. Kenmore, board chairman, reports business booming in all divisions.

A few blocks up Fifth Avenue from Cartier is Tiffany & Co., another synonym for luxurious living. While big "ticket" sales have slackened a mite there, the number of sales are up.

"The $50,000 and $100,000 sales are not as frequent as last year," said Farnham Lefferts, president of Tiffany, "but 1969 was an excellent year."

Sociological changes, rather than a slowing economy, are affecting one segment of the luxury market, expensive clothing.

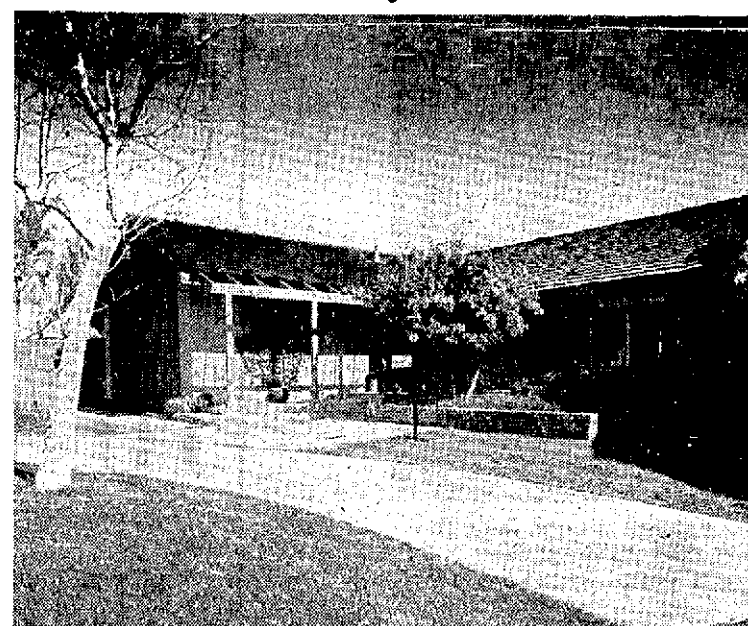

When New York's style setting Bergdorf Goodman closed its custom salon last May, Andrew Goodman explained: "Everyone is more conscious of worldwide problems. Being overly extravagant is in poor taste and not of the moment."

Another Bergdorf executive recently noted: "When a husband has been to a meeting of the Urban League Coalition, he is not enchanted to have his wife talk at the dinner table about the $4,000 beaded dress she has just bought."

But the "guilt" complex hasn't really eliminated "gift" drives.

"Women accustomed to wearing expensive clothes are still buying them," said a Bonwit teller executive. "But instead of buying five, they may buy four."

Alondra Model Tops in Mission Viejo Homes

ALONDRA IS "BEST SELLER"

The most popular Mission Viejo home in 1969 was the Alondra model in the Eldorado Homes neighborhood.

"We sold more Alondra models than any other plan in Mission Viejo," said John Martin, Vice President of Marketing for the Mission Viejo Company.

"In fact, sales on the Alondra accounted for about 28 per cent of the 1969 Eldorado Homes' sales and nearly 10 per cent of the total sales for the year at all of Mission Viejo's neighborhoods."

Martin attributed the success of the plan to its adaptability and low price.

"It appeals to all ages, and all income levels. We have sold the Alondra to newly-married couples, to small and medium-sized families, and to mature couple whose children are no longer at home. The Alondra is spacious enough to provide plenty of living area and privacy, and compact enough to keep maintenance to a minimum," he said.

"And the prices, which start at $24,300, please just about everybody," Martin added.

The exterior design of the Alondra is highlighted by a covered colonnade, which is formed by extensions of the roof line. This colonnade leads to the front entry, and into a formal raised entrance hall.

The large living room, with its exposed-beam vaulted ceiling and striking fireplace, is oriented to the rear patio through an entire wall of glass. A large separate family room adjoins the breakfast nook and kitchen, which has a double built-in pantry and pass-through window to an outside patio service bar.

The center hall leads to the double-door entry of the master bedroom suite. This suite features an unusually large walk-in closet and fully enclosed private bath.

"The most important feature of the Alondra, and all the Eldorado models, is the Mission Viejo living that goes along with it," said Martin.

"Mission Viejo living is in a class by itself. All of the hurry-and-hurry of city living has been eliminated, leaving a leisurely pace and an atmosphere that is conducive to enjoying life. And there's so much to enjoy! We have recreation clubs, neighborhood parks, open spaces and quiet, peaceful hills," said Martin.

"And living in Mission Viejo isn't really like living in other planned communities either. We already have our own schools and parks and recreation facilities and shopping plaza. And we're adding more convenience to Mission Viejo living every day," he concluded.

Eldorado Homes are located on Chrisanta Drive, about one mile from La Paz Road, and within a short drive of the La Paz exit on the Santa Ana-San Diego Freeway. Prices range from $23,150 to $29,395 with FHA, VA and conventional financing available.

MUTUAL FUND GROWTH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mutual fund assets increased by nearly 400 per cent during the past decade, according to Wiesenberger Financial Services, a major reporter on the mutual fund industry. With assets soaring from $13 billion in 1960 to more than $50 billion today, mutual funds have had the fastest growth rate of any major investment medium in the past decade.

TAKES POST

Bob Burks, formerly with Standard Insurance Company, has been named division manager of Bell Funding Corporation's new Torrance office. He is a resident of Tustin.

INSTALLED

Norman Dickson of Long Beach, has been installed as the new president of the Orange County Savings and Loan League.

NAMED

Dean Kavorinos, Long Beach, has been named trust officer-vice president for California Bankers Trust Company. Prior to joining CBT, Kavorinos was Bank of America vice president.

NEW B OF A IN ISLA VISTA

Isla Vista branch of Bank of America reopened in temporary quarters, similar to facility shown here, Monday, March 9. The 2,400 square foot office, constructed at a cost of approximately $50,000, is located on the exact site of the former branch, destroyed during demonstrations Feb. 25. Designed to provide immediate banking service to the area until the permanent structure can be built, the new branch contains 14 teller stations and will accommodate virtually all employees from the former branch. Safe deposit facilities will continue to be maintained in the nearby Hollister-Storke Road branch.

CRIME FIGHTERS

The large street lights, created by Westinghouse at Cleveland, Ohio, are crime preventers. A survey of police chiefs revealed that three fourths of all crimes occur at night and that two thirds of these take place in dimly lighted areas. These lights automatically go on at dusk and turn off at dawn.

WORLD OF WHEELS

By ART STEFAN

Four of the fastest machines on wheels will arrive at the Goodyear Service Store in the Del Amo Shopping Center on March 15, 1970 on The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company's nationwide "Meet the Hot Ones" road tour.

The exhibit, housed in a huge Goodyear van, was created to bring to the general public some of the racing and competition machines that have thrilled sports fans around the world. The high speed competition cars will be on display from March 15 through March 17.

In 1969, an estimated 150,000 people in 52 U.S. cities visited the "Meet the Hot Ones" exhibit to study the four vehicles then on display.

This year a Dodge Charger-Daytona has been added to the "Hot Ones" exhibit. This racer, with its distinctive tapered nose and specially designed fin and wing safety stabilizer device, is similar to the one driven to victory by Bobby Isaac in the 500-mile Grand National stock car race at Texas International Speedway in 1969.

That same year, a Dodge Charger-Daytona thundered over the Talladega, Ala. 2.6-mile, high-bank tri-oval to set the world closed-course speed record of 199.987 miles an hour, faster than any race car has traveled on a closed or circular race track. That car was driven on Goodyear racing tires by Charlie Glotzbach.

Sports car racing buffs will have opportunity to thoroughly inspect the Roger McCluskey Lola-chassis T-70 Mark III. The McCluskey Lola is similar to the Group Seven sports cars, which are said to be the fastest racing cars in the world, due to their lightweight construction and unlimited engine displacement. The Group Seven cars run in the SCCA sanctioned Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series racing events.

The "Tinker Toy" is making the nationwide tour with the Goodyear "Hot Ones." This AA fuel "rail," as this type of dragster is popularly known, has ripped through the measured quarter-mile at speeds of 225-plus miles an hour in less than seven seconds. The "Tinker Toy" runs on a combination of fuels including nitro-methane and alcohol.

A rear-engine All-American Eagle racer will also be on display. This Eagle is similar to the one driven by Bobby Unser when he won the 1968 Indianapolis 500.

"Meet the Hot Ones" also includes movies of the world's greatest racing events. Films of LeMans, Daytona, Sebring, Indianapolis, Darlington and the world land speed record run at Bonneville will be shown evenings during the exhibit's visit.

Displays of racing equipment also will be featured.

MORE THAN 100 classic automobiles, vintage from 1925 to 1940, will be placed on display March 15 at the Proud Bird Restaurant, 11022 Aviation Blvd., on the final approach to Los Angeles International Airport.

The cars will provide a stark contrast to the sleek jets that fly by the restaurant for landings at Los Angeles International. The cars belong to members of the Southern California Classic Car Club who will be holding their meeting at the restaurant.

The classics, Cadillacs, Packards, Lincolns, Pierce Arrows and several foreign models, will be lined up in numerical order by type of automobile. The display will be in the left parking lot of the Proud Bird.

Dr. Richard Steiner, president of the Southern California Classic Car Club, said the display, although primarily intended for club members, would be open to the public.

"Visitors are free to look at the cars and take pictures if they wish," Dr. Steiner said. There is no admission charge to the area.

This is the first display of classic automobiles at the Proud Bird, a property of Specialty Restaurants Corporation, Long Beach based operators of view-oriented restaurants.

Space Firm Gets New Phone Plan

A new 4400-line time and cost saving telephone communications system will be put into operation for North American Rockwell Space Division, Downey, Monday at 12:01 a.m. by General Telephone Company.

The system, known as Centrex, was specially tailored by General Telephone to meet varied communication requirements specified by the Space Division. The most dramatic features provided by Centrex are direct inward dialing to a station user without going through an operator, direct outward dialing to local dialing area, and station-to-station conferences.

Finnish Exports

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finland's industrial exports for 1969 are expected to show a total of about 7.5 billion marks ($1.8 billion), an increase of approximately 20 per cent over 1968, the Trade Ministry estimates.

Also included in the system is a station billing program that provides the customer with the ability to allocate and control communication costs. The mechanical equipment for the Centrex System is housed in a General Telephone Company building and reduces the present floor space requirements of the customer's premises from 10,000 square feet to approximately 400 square feet.

What's Your Problem?

Art Teacher May Win in Real Estate Venture

By DON G. CAMPBELL

"Busy hands are happy hands." "An idle mind is the devil's workshop." "Everybody needs a hobby."

And so the platitudes roll out about the advantages of keeping oneself gainfully occupied. A lot of it is bunk, of course, since there is a lot to be said for just sitting quietly and listening to your hair grow.

But, for a lot of people, keeping busy is as essential to their well-being as getting a good night's sleep.

MR. CAMPBELL:

I am a 40-year-old woman, former high school art teacher, who would like to work again. However, schools have more applicants than needed in this area and I am limited by my husband's employment.

For this reason I am considering another field, a real estate venture, in which I would buy a home, clean, paint, and make design improvements, for purposes of resale for profit. I have in my favor $9,000 capital, ability and time to paint, scrub, mow, prune, etc., a college education in design, a talent for home decorating that has brought many favorable comments, and a husband who is an experienced insurance appraiser and who makes cabinets in his spare time.

I am so in love with this idea that I must admit to being blind to its problems. Therefore, I am looking forward to your advice in this matter.

Mrs. J.R.H.

ANSWER: I get quite a bit of correspondence along this line and, in about 9 cases out of 10, the writer either blithely skips over his background or is frank enough to admit that his remodeling experience has been limited to putting a soap shelf over his wife's washing machine.

In your case, however, I am frank in admitting that I am in love with your idea, too. No one ever pretended that this is an easy way to make a buck, but I think that your and your husband's skills, education and interests dovetail beautifully in making the project feasible. The last figures I saw placed the number of houses in the country that are 15 years old, or more, at about 43 million and the number that go back as far as the '30s at 33 million -- so the remodeling field is wide open.

For reference here you might dig up the new, updated, paperback edition of William Nickerson's classic "How I Turned $1,000 Into a Million in Real Estate in My Spare Time." The title has been changed slightly for the updating, but it is well worth your time because what you have in mind is the theme of Nickerson's book. (For that matter, ahem, Chapter Three of my own book, "The Handbook of Real Estate Investment," deals with the same subject.)

Good luck. I think you

CHAIRMAN

Robert F. Hoyt, vice president of First American Title Insurance Company, Santa Ana, has been appointed general chairman of the annual California Mortgage Bankers Association state convention to be held in Palm Springs April 22-25.

have all the equipment for success.

MR. CAMPBELL:

Will you please send me a copy of the Internal Revenue Service law governing the sale of a home for citizens who are retired, and are 60 years or older?

Mr. C.H.T.

ANSWER: I'm terribly sorry, but I do not have this sort of literature available to send to you. I suggest that you consult with your local IRS office, your attorney or your Certified Public Accountant -- all of whom should be able to answer your questions.

The provision you have reference to, I'm afraid, doesn't refer to individuals who are 60 years or older, but to those who are 65 or older. And, believe me, the thing gets pretty complex. I suggest that when you contact your local IRS office you refer them to Code Sec. 121, Reg. 1.121-1, 1.121-3.

Having been burned grievously on a couple of occasions in trying to read the IRS' mind, I have absolutely no intention -- at this time -- of trying to decipher the whims, instincts and fads-of-the-moment that govern the bureau's rulings this year.

Try me on something simple, like: how many fairies can dance on the head of a pin?

MR. CAMPBELL:

My husband died recently and had everything in a joint tenancy account. I have been told that I have to have the place appraised for tax inheritance, and also have my husband's name removed from the deed. The house is a small place, and I still have to make payments, so, if I decide to sell, can I do so?

Mrs. A.V.B.

ANSWER: Admittedly, the joint tenancy bit isn't entirely the neat answer to everything in the way that some people paint it, but I still have the sneaking suspicion that someone has gotten to you and vastly over-complicated the thing. The principle -- if not the sole -- advantage to joint tenancy is that of survivor-inheritance with a minimum of red tape.

If I were you, I would have nothing appraised, no one's name removed from anything, or anything else of this nature undertaken, without consulting an attorney. It's a relatively simple matter, and the attorney's fee should be modest -- and particularly so in relationship to the degree at which it puts your mind at rest.

I suspect you're getting some advice from someone, and I further suspect that the advice may be worth exactly what it cost you in the first place. Nothing, that is.

MR. CAMPBELL:

The county assessor has recently raised the taxes on an old duplex I bought from a retired man last year. Other than the raise in mill rate, "Minimum updating of apartment and installation of sink and bath" are the reasons given.

On calling this sly operator, I naturally got no place. He says these improvements were never on his books and, besides, I did more improving than the $600 he entered. (Rewiring is all I have done. The former owner informs me that the sink, etc., was built in the apartment more than 20 years ago.)

Can taxes on this property legally be raised on these grounds? If not, what can I do when talking to the assessor is a waste of time? -- Mr. E. A.

ANSWER: So stop wasting your time with him and file a formal objection, and request a hearing, on the matter. The value assigned to real property is merely the opinion of that one official and it sounds to me like you've got an excellent case in opposing him.

MR. CAMPBELL: We would like your advice as we do not know which way to turn.

We are going to retire soon, and we would like to sell our house as the payments are large and we can't afford it.

Would it be cheaper to buy another house, and put down a larger payment so we can have smaller monthly payments? Or should we buy a mobile home and pay cash for it. We would appreciate your opinion. -- Mrs. B. B.

ANSWER: Without knowing more about your finances than you have told me, I'm afraid that there is a danger I might mislead you. I am, though, reminded of the advice that the multi-millionaire financier, J. P. Morgan, gave to a worried investor when the investor, complaining that he couldn't sleep at night because of his concern over the falling stock market, asked Morgan's advice on how much of his stock he should sell.

"Sell down to the sleeping level," Morgan advised him, tersely.

In other words, don't worry too much about what the "smart" thing to do is -- do what you can live with comfortably. It's obvious here that you aren't going to be comfortable in your retirement with your present house payments, and the immediate problem is to cut those payments down in some way.

Buying another home with a larger down payment is, indeed, a way to reduce the monthly outlay although you must realize -- thanks to inflation -- that you may end up with considerably less house than you now have and will probably be extending your indebtedness farther into the future than you are now obligated.

On the other hand, of course, I don't know, either, how you feel about mobile homes. Certainly, many retired people have found them the ideal solution to the very thing you are talking about -- their only monthly indebtedness is for maintenance and the space that they occupy (although, in the more posh mobile home parks, this can be a pretty hefty jolt).

With a mobile home, too, you have still another attractive feature -- one that is particularly appealing to anyone living on a fixed retirement income: in the event of a sharp downturn in the economy, or, ironically, if runaway inflation continues to hound us, you can always move a mobile home to a site that is cheaper and without materially lowering your standard of living. It's an advantage, certainly, that no one locked into a 15 or 20-year mortgage and on a fixed income has.

If you have questions concerning the construction or improvement of a home, a special committee of experienced builders will answer your questions without charge or obligation. (Mr. Campbell welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately, he is unable to enter into personal correspondence, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.)

Prigmore, Krueger Plan Merger

Robert Prigmore, owner of Bob Prigmore Realty, Bellflower, and Jack Krueger, president, The Real Estate Stores, announced the forthcoming opening of The Real Estate Store No. 5.

The office will be located at the site of the existing Prigmore office and will combine the turn of the century decor and "one stop" service presently offered by the existing four Real Estate Stores with the reputation already established by Bob Prigmore in serving the Bellflower area for over 15 years.

This merger and expansion on the part of the two firms was accomplished under a franchise type of arrangement in which Prigmore will continue both as a co-owner and manager, and yet be able to provide his present and future clientele with the advantages of four other service offices and over 60 additional associates. Besides the change in appearance and name, the facilities will be further expanded to accommodate a qualified sales force of from ten to 15 associates.

These sales associates will also be offered the additional advantages of stock ownership in the company through production, a commission plan, and many other "firsts" that the multi-office Real Estate Stores have pioneered. This announcement comes during the month in which the Real Estate Stores have just completed their fourth year of operation, a year which marked a 25 per cent increase in their gross sales over the previous year with a 1969 volume of $12 million.

Expansion will still continue unabated with at least one more company owned store being planned this year. The merger and expansion also brings together two Realtors who are most active in organized real estate both on a local and state-wide level.

Prigmore presently serves as a vice president of the California Real Estate Association and has previously served the Rancho Los Cerritos Board of Realtors as their president on two different occasions. Krueger serves as the president of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors and also is a director of the California Real Estate Association.

Troy Cerritos Homes Put Emphasis on Space

Space where it counts the most, mainly in big family entertainment centers, kitchens, formal dining rooms and living rooms, and master bedrooms, has won the approval of visitors to Troy Cerritos, reports Fred C. Dodd, subdivision sales manager.

The 102-home community is a development of The McCarthy Company at 195th Street and Bloomfield Avenue in Cerritos. Grand opening ceremonies were held last week to present four completely furnished models to the buying public.

"Visitors are enthusiastic about our flexible floor plans in which a four-bedroom home can become a three bedroom home with an extra large family recreation center," said Mr. Dodd. "This gives them a solution to a need for either more space for family activities or for more bedrooms."

Traffic during the first week after formal opening has been impressive which indicates that many families are looking for homes today, said Mr. Dodd.

Visitors also have discovered how centrally located the development is with easy access to four major freeways.

Announcement of more plans for the 82-acre recreation park adjacent to the project, including approval of a $1,300,000 grant by the federal government, also has increased interest in Troy Cerritos homes.

Models are open from 10:00 A.M. to dusk daily. They can be reached by turning off Santa Ana Freeway at Carmenita Road, and proceeding south to South Street, then right to Bloomfield Avenue, and then left to the development.

WORLD OF WINGS

In spite of some well-publicized initial problems in starting the world's first Boeing 747 jumbo jet service, Pan American World Airways reports its New York-London 747 schedules have been making money and otherwise performing up to expectations from the beginning.

At the end of the first two weeks of flying after the January 21 inaugural, Pan Am's 362-passenger 747s had carried 6,318 paying passengers on 30 flights across the North Atlantic. This figure represented an average load factor of 58.1 per cent, which the airline maintains is considerably higher than the big plane's break-even point.

More significant, from Pan Am's point of view, is the fact that the single evening 747 flight from New York did more work and carried more passengers than the two nightly 707 departures which it replaced. Flight Two, the eastbound 747 schedule, carried 3,551 passengers during the two weeks up to Feb. 5, compared to 1,878 for both 707s in the comparable period last year.

On Feb. 7, Pan Am started five-times weekly 747 service between New York and San Juan, Puerto Rico, with even better results. The first two round trips carried 1,392 revenue passengers, averaging out to 348 seats filled on each trip.

New York-Paris 747 schedules began March 1, and this past week saw Pan Am's inaugural of jumbo jet service in the Pacific, with daily shuttles between Los Angeles and Honolulu.

AIR CALIFORNIA, the Orange County-based intrastate carrier scheduled to be acquired by Pacific Southwest Airlines next month if certain financial and legal requirements can be met, has received an assist toward the merger in the form of a fare increase insuring the airline's profitability.

The California Public Utilities Commission has authorized a hike of one cent per passenger mile between Orange County and San Francisco and Orange County-Ontario and San Jose-Oakland, raising one-way fares to an even $20. The previous rates were $16.90 to San Francisco and $16.19 on the other routes.

Carl Benschoter, Air California president, pointed out that if the rate increase had been in effect during 1969, the airline would have realized additional revenues of $2,692,860, more than sufficient to cancel the airline's loss of $2,433,365 for the year.

Benschoter and J. Floyd Andrews, PSA president, have announced an agreement under which PSA will acquire Air California in mid-April providing the Orange County airline's deficit does not exceed $3,819,544 and the arrangement is approved by stockholders, the PUC and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Since that time service has expanded to include Yokohama, Kobe, Moji, Nagoya, Shimizu, Tokyo, all in Japan and Keelung, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and within the past week, Pusan.

BEAVER MARK IV, North American Rockwell's submersible workboat has received formal certification from the U.S. Navy.

Certification by the Naval Ships Systems Command makes the 24-foot sub the first such vehicle to be approved by two agencies responsible for underwater vehicle safety. Earlier the Beaver received certification by the American Bureau of Shipping.

The sub is currently under lease to the Navy's Undersea Research and Development Center in San Diego.

Acceptance by the Navy followed a technical safety evaluation including a Santa Catalina Channel dive to 2,091 feet.

THE 165-FOOT YACHT, Potomac, the floating White House of America's World War II president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was tugged into a small docking area at Berth 207A in the Port of Long Beach on Monday.

Present plans of the owner, Edward Bynon, Long Beach publisher, are to convert the vessel into a museum containing memorabilia of the United States' 32nd president.

The yacht's two obsolete, 675-horsepower diesel engines will be removed.

THE U.S. COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY is using the latest electronic hydrographic equipment to map the coasts and sea bottoms off Southern California.

Results of the survey will be used to update charts issued by the agency for use by commercial shipping and recreational boaters.

Two vessels are being used to survey more than 19,000 square miles of the continental shelf from the Canadian Border down to the Mexican border.

Odor Control Freshens Air in Home

NEW YORK (UPI) — Your home may have the very latest systems to control heating, cooling, humidity and air cleaning at the push of a button, so that your indoor air is as warm, cool, dry clean as you want it.

But how does it smell?

Control of household odors is increasingly recognized as an important dimension of total home comfort. When odors linger and accumulate they create a stuffy, oppressive atmosphere.

Consumer surveys indicate a strong interest in devices that will rid the house of cooking, smoking or bathroom odors and substitute a "fresh and clean" smell. Housewives mention as particularly objectionable the smell of cooking cabbage or shrimp, burnt meat, stale tobacco smoke, chemicals and insecticides, paint, diapers, medicine and perspiration.

THROUGH the years relief has been provided by such innovations as perfume, incense, open windows or kitchen and bathroom ventilators. One popular antidote is the spray can of "room deodorant," on which about $20 million a year is spent by shoppers.

A modern way to eliminate odors is by counteraction, which means the chemically neutralizing of odors.

Such an odor control system looks like a portable radio and can be installed in the ductwork of a central heating unit or mounted on a wall.

The unit disperses a special odor counteractant that can alter the structure of odor molecules much as colors can be mixed to form completely different colors, explain scientists at Honeywell, designer of the system. The effect is to "cancel" the offending odor before it has a chance to annoy.

THE SYSTEM is simple to operate. A housewife about to boil shrimp for dinner simply flips a switch on a remote control panel. This activates a fan inside the unit which begins spreading counteractant throughout the home. The system can be set at normal, which keeps a low level of counteractant circulating continuously, or switched to high to handle critical situations like burning popcorn. The system can be turned off to give full effect to those odors that every one enjoys, such as freshly cut flowers, or coffee perking.

The counteractant also leaves a slight trace of fragrance in the air, with four scents available.

ITS COUPON CITY, USA Clinton, Iowa, Important to Housewives

CLINTON, Iowa (UPI) — Never heard of Clinton, Iowa, eh?

But to the U.S. Post Office, this eastern Iowa city, population 35,000, is big business, indeed. In fact it is Coupon City, U.S.A.

For each day, thousands upon thousands of coupons addressed to "Mr. Retailer" and a post office box number pour in here for discounts on everything from deodorants to yogurt.

And flowing out of Clinton by mail are thousands of free samples of merchandise, from cold pills to shaving cream, from cookies to the latest in instant coffee.

"Mr. Retailer" is the A. C. Nielsen Co. coupon clearing house, a division of the firm which also provides TV ratings.

"Between incoming and outgoing mail, we handle about 300,000 pieces a day for Nielsen," says E. J. Murphy, superintendent of mails in Clinton.

"That's about a million and a half per five-day business week, or around 75 million pieces of mail a year," Murphy added.

The clearing house acts as the redemption agent for about 250 food and drug product manufacturers who issue coupons — a billion of them through the first 11 months of 1969 — through clipout advertisements or direct mailings of coupon packets.

The firm represents "about 35 of the top 50 couponing manufacturers in the country," says Richard Pape, vice president.

The firm's services include redeeming discount coupons for retailers, judging contests, supervising sweepstakes, sending out prizes or samples for sending in boxtops or labels and cash refunds for boxtops or product labels.

The business keeps a staff of about 700 workers busy, with about 400 directly involved in processing incoming or outgoing mailings in the fully computerized operation.

But the clearing-house function is not the end service of the operation, Pape says.

"We're involved in market research," he says. "After we've made payment to the retailers for their coupons, we develop statistics for the manufacture on the success of his redemption program."

The end result, says Pape, is a breakdown for the client of how his product stacks up against his competition in individual market areas — the same sort of market breakdown the Nielsen TV ratings provide.

"Essentially," he says, "we do here in the food and drug industry on the movement of products what we do in the television industry on the watching of TV shows."

The average pheasant clutch has 10 young birds.

Landmark Homes Feature Drapes

Draperies, an item usually not found in new tract homes, have been included in the La Palma Landmark homes.

"The cost to homebuyers to finish their homes is often overlooked," said Robert James, marketing director for developer Signal-Landmark, Inc., one of the Signal Companies.

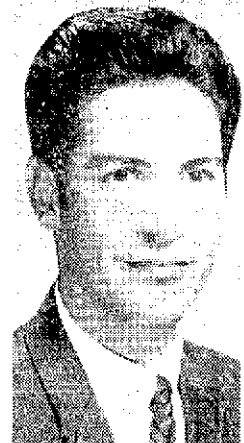

"Signal-Landmark wanted to offer more in its product and thus supplied many of these most-asked-for items in the La Palma homes. By mass purchasing, Landmark saved the homebuyer more money than if he were to buy the items himself."

In addition to draperies, the La Palma Landmark homes (ranging in price from $32,875 to $34,125) include 100 per cent nylon carpeting, built-in television antenna, insulation and fully-equipped patio kitchens.

To complete the outside of the home, the La Palma development has front yard landscaping with sprinklers, rear yard fencing, shake roofs.

Located near the junction of the Artesia and Santa Ana freeways between La Palma and Orangethorpe avenues in the city of La Palma, the R. J. Marvick and Associates designed homes are convenient for the commuter.

TRAFFIC CONTROL CENTER FOR GAS

Surrounded by humming electronic computer, wall-size lighted pipeline maps, television data screens, radios and teletypes, experienced employees of El Paso Natural Gas Company coordinate flow of natural gas through pipelines of the company's Southern Division, serving California, Arizona, New Mexico and West Texas. Expansion project completed earlier this year enabled El Paso to increase deliveries to California by 257 million cubic feet of gas per day—in plenty of time for the heating season. El Paso is one of three suppliers of out-of-state gas to California, delivering natural gas on a wholesale basis to the Pacific Lighting companies and to Pacific Gas and Electric Company for resale.

Coca-Cola Builds Irvine Plant

Construction of a new Orange County branch for the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. is underway at Irvine Industrial Complex, A. D. MacDonald, president of the beverage firm, has announced.

Totalling more than 33,000 square feet of office and warehouse space, the company's new Santa Ana Branch facility is moving ahead on schedule, he added.

Careful studies, based on population growth and marketing areas, revealed that the ideal spot would be in the general area of the Santa Ana and Newport Freeway interchange.

The site is two miles south of this point.

The construction site covers four acres, leaving six acres for further expansion as required.

THE PROPERTY was purchased by the company a few years ago in anticipation of eventual need for an improved Orange County sales-distribution center.

When completed, the warehouse section of more than 26,000 square feet will represent the largest branch storage facility the company has ever built.

It will provide "high density" capacity with a 28-foot clear height and maximum cubage will be utilized with a palletized storage system.

ALL PRODUCTS will be handled as complete pallet loads when placed in stock, also when needed for route truck loading. A drive-through layout assures efficient loading and unloading, all of which will be performed under cover.

A cantilevered parking cover will accommodate route trucks and there will also be facilities for truck maintenance.

Ruane Corp. is general contractor for the facility. Electrical contractor is Hunt Electric Co.; heating and air-conditioning by Coast Heating and Air Conditioning Co.; plumbing by Bailey, the Plumber, Inc. and fire sprinklers by Barnard Engineering Co.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM & NEWS

Housing Market Money Going Elsewhere

NEW YORK (AP) — Attended by social consequences that could sour the spirit of the country for years to come, the United States steadily falls behind its goal of 2.6 million housing units a year.

The Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 set the goal. Inflation and the battle against inflation are aborting it. Money is being drained from the housing market to more profitable investments elsewhere.

In January, the annual rate of housing starts dropped to 1,116,000 units. More ominous, the issuance rate of building permits nosedived, indicating that the number of starts will drop even lower in coming months.

THE NATURE of housing is changing also.

Much of the present construction is apartment house style. Individual house construction is becoming less common. And hundreds of thousands are turning to mobile homes.

No matter what is done now to change the rapidly eroding housing industry, it never again will be the same. In order to maintain its skills, any industry must offer work to its members.

Jobs are plentiful in most areas of the economy. When skilled workers leave the housing industry, therefore, they may leave for good. And the same may be said for many small builders.

AS A consequence, the house of the future is increasingly going to be made at the factories of large companies that can take advantage of automation, and which can offer steady employment to workers.

Although it is not official economic policy to damage the housing industry as it exists, it is an almost inevitable consequence of such policy. Government officials from the President down concede this.

Why, then, do they permit it? A lot of people are asking that question every day, including of course the 51,000 members of the National Association of Home Builders.

Testifying before a congressional committee last month, NAHB president Louis R. Barba stated: "It is almost beyond belief that we can allow an industry that has proven to be a great national resource . . . be crippled so seriously."

THE conventional explanation is that the economy must be brought back into balance through the use of fiscal and monetary restraints. That means tight money. And it also means high interest rates, which are the price tags on money.

Housing might very well get its share of financing if it could pay higher rates. However, for complicated economic reasons, the so-called thrift institutions, including savings and loan associations, are restrained from open competition for funds.

Mortgages also mean that money is tied up for long periods of time. And so, with interest rates on an escalator, many lenders would rather see their money loaned out for shorter periods of time. They want turnover.

The result of this situation is documented by a report from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. In January, it said, savings and loan associations saw $1.41 billion drained from their accounts. Their lending power grows weaker.

THE MAJOR housing question now before the American people is this: can the nerve network of the nation's monetary system be considered sensitive to national needs and goals if such a situation is permitted to exist?

Says Barba: "The current crisis . . . does not spring from any failure in the productivity of the private housing industry. It is a failure of national policy and of the financial machinery of the country . . ."

Several bills are now before Congress to change that machinery. Efforts are being made to make the Federal Reserve more sensitive to housing needs. Pension funds are being encouraged to invest in the mortgage market.

The administration is attempting to channel more funds through federal agencies, and a major housing bill is being prepared with the help of Housing and Urban Development.

"The decline in housing production must and will be stopped," the President said last month. If it isn't, the country will never hit that goal of 2.6 million more units in this decade.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin said 1969 was a relatively good year for U.S. farmers, with net income increasing by $1.2 billion to about $16 billion.

He told a Senate appropriations subcommittee that average net income per farm was estimated at an all-time high of $5,468 compared with $4,805 in 1968 and $3,049 in 1969.

However, Hardin added agriculture's long-time problems continue and underscore the need for new farm legislation.

In an earlier day, Hardin said, commodity price supports were expected to help solve the problems of economic stability for the larger commercial producer and poverty income for the small producer.

Today, price supports high enough to help the small producers would over-benefit the larger producers and put price supported products into an impossible competitive position, Hardin said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The "present crisis of discontinuity which is distorting economic behavior" is not a prelude to depression, which would be bearish for the market, but rather to a panic of illiquidity, the Janeway Service says.

This, however, is unlikely to get so out of hand that a depression results. In the long run such a credit panic should prove extremely bullish for the market, but over the short term prices can be expected to drop far below current levels before the market turns around.

The market's technical activity has grown increasingly constructive over the past three weeks, TPO Inc. observes.

Yet, although most equities have been holding above their recent lows, there is still no clear-cut evidence that the market has reached bottom. The firm sees little in the majority of stocks to reward the intermediate trader, but suggests buying on a highly selected basis those leading performers which have remained bullish against the overall downward trend.

E. F. Hutton & Co. sees a base emerging over the past three weeks capable of supporting an advance to at least the 800 area in terms of the Dow-Jones Industrial Average, and "possibly even to the year-end rally peak in the 810-820 zone."

It is difficult to say whether this will occur in a straight line move or be punctuated by profit taking pauses, the firm says, but the fundamental and technical outlook definitely warrants a more constructive approach.

President Nixon's decision to delay major changes in the controversial oil import program has been a tonic for oil stocks. Oil Statistics Bulletin says.

Oil stocks look like extremely good values and well-worth accumulating, it adds. The possibility of radical changes in the import quota system has been the "biggest cloud overhanging the industry."

Five good reasons to buy a home in the dark:

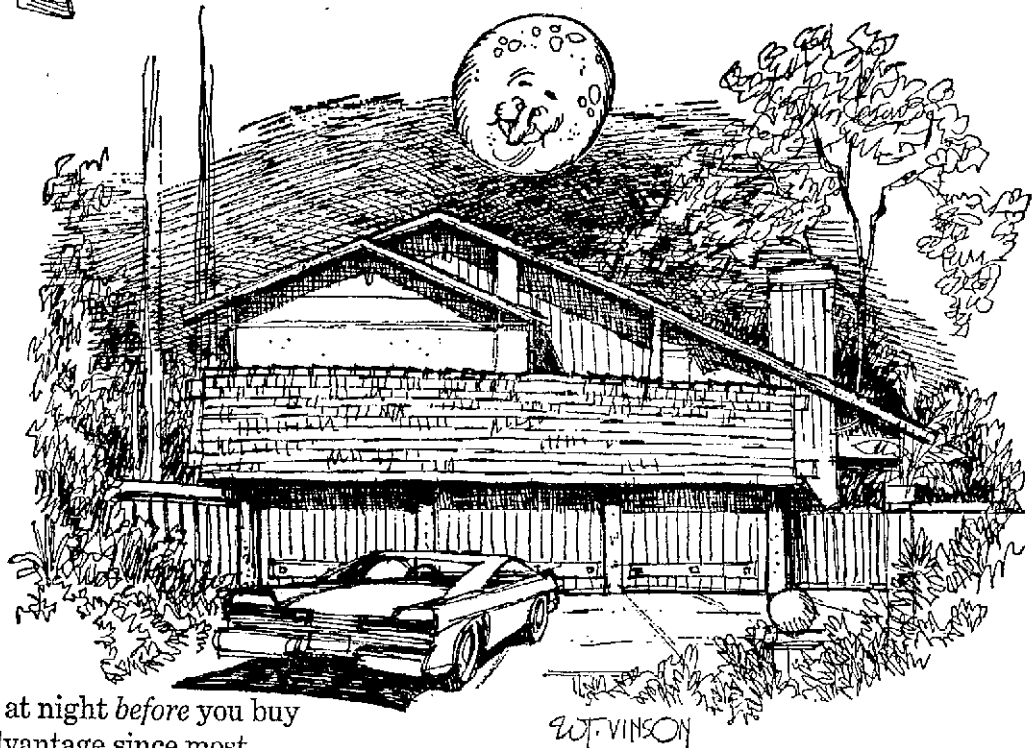

Crowds are for football games, not housing developments. By looking at night, you're assured of our full attention. Every night until ten o'clock. With no need to shove, push or cajole. And no need to rush through a home in five minutes that you plan to live in for many years.

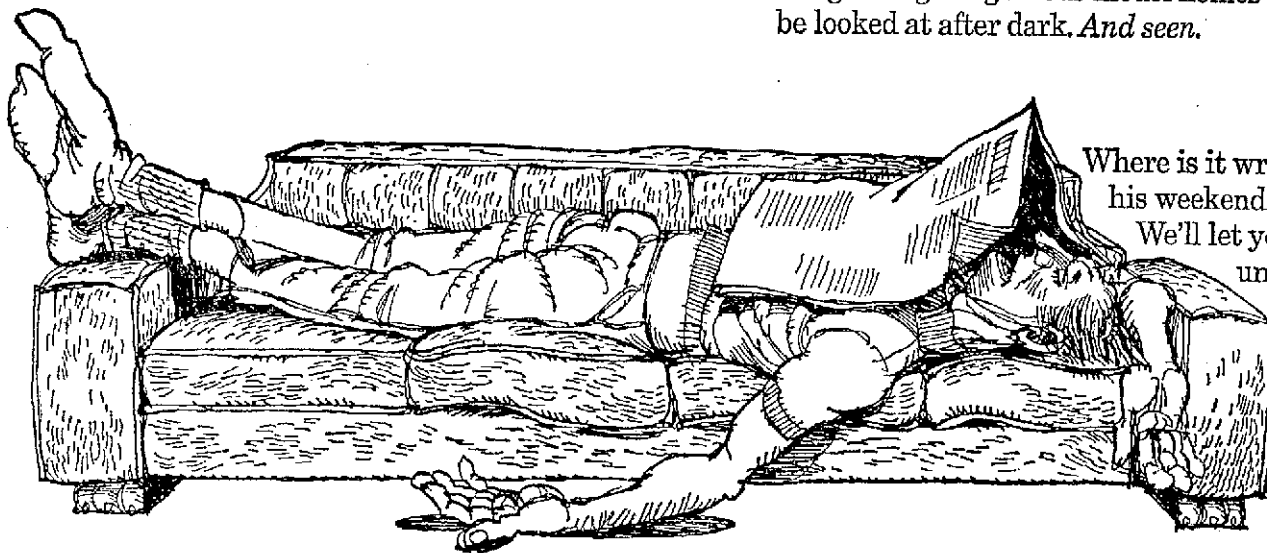

You won't have to fight fidgety kids at night if they're home with a babysitter. (A worthwhile investment, even at $1.00 an hour.) If you can't get a sitter, bring the kids anyway. The extreme quiet will confuse them long enough to let you get a good look.

Seeing your home at night before you buy is an important advantage since most of your total family life will occur during the evening hours. We've even added specially designed lighting so our model homes can be looked at after dark. And seen.

Where is it written that Man must spend his weekends looking at new homes? We'll let you look any night of the week until ten. Then, you can take your Saturdays and Sundays and do with them what you will.

But night selling doesn't mean much unless you've got something worthwhile to sell. At Alton Street in Santa Ana, we've designed some very special, very different kinds of homes. $28,990 to $35,490 homes built by Levitt and Sons of California Inc., a worldwide service of ITT. And backed by a warranty no other builder can afford to offer. We'd like you to see the homes at Alton Street in Santa Ana. Tonight. Or any night this week until ten. We're off Bristol, just a couple of blocks north of the South Coast Plaza Shopping Center. (If, for some reason, you can't look at night, we're also open during the day. From ten o'clock on.)

WELCOME TO MISSILE COUNTRY

Miss Welcome to Long Beach contestants Patty Oehlman, 21, on left, and Sheri Whitlow, 20, are shown a USS Bainbridge missile launcher by Fire Controlman 2C. James Fennell, of Dallas. The girls were part of contingent of 15 semifinalists who toured the ship Friday. Tuesday they will tour Universal Studios in Universal City. Finals will be held at Elks Club March 21. Winner becomes official hostess for Long Beach.

Pacific Coast Hwy. Lighting Approved

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

State approval and financial participation has cleared the way for installing modern street lighting the full length of Pacific Coast Highway in fiscal 1970-71. City Manager John R. Mansell said Friday.

The city proposes to install 475 standards with 700-watt mercury vapor lamps along the nearly seven miles of Pacific Coast Highway between the east and west city limits.

Estimated cost of the project is $470,500. Mansell said.

City Engineer Jess D. Gikerson has been working with the State Division of Highways for nearly a year to get clearance for installing the lighting on the state highway, and had asked the state to contribute financially to the project.

In a letter to the city this week, J. B. Baxter, district traffic engineer, pointed out that the highway division's contributions are limited to safety lighting, which normally means street intersections.

On the basis of plans submitted by the city, Baxter said, the Division of Highways would be able to contribute toward about 120 of the lighting standards. Gikerson estimated the state contribution at $52,250.

As it has done with its other street-lighting projects, the city proposes to finance the Pacific Coast Highway project through the 1911 Improvement Act.

This would mean that the city would add approximately $156,750 to the state's $50,250 to make up one-half of the estimated total cost of the project. The balance would be assessed against property benefited by the improvement.

Property along the north side of Pacific Coast Highway between Dawson Avenue and Reservoir Drive West is in the City of Signal Hill, Mansell pointed out, and would require that city's approval to be included in the project.

HEART SURGEON CALLS FOR RESEARCH

Graft Rejection Still a Problem

By BEN ZINER
Medical-Science Editor

Medical science still is a long way from finding how to solve the problem of graft rejection in heart-transplant surgery, a heart surgeon said in Long Beach Friday.

Dr. Richard J. Cleveland, who has performed a human heart transplant, said in a lecture at St. Mary's Hospital that basic research is the key to subsequent successful heart transplantation.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM

SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1970 SECTION B—PAGE B-1
MARKETS ON PAGES C-6 & C-7

Suppression of the "immune response" — that is the rejection reaction — remains the major obstacle in heart-transplant surgery, he said.

DR. CLEVELAND is chief of cardiac surgery at Harbor General Hospital, Torrance, and assistant professor of surgery at UCLA school of medicine.

He pointed out that even if the rejection matter should be solved, there would still be problems.

"The logistical problems would be staggering," he said in reference to finding suitable donor hearts for all those persons needing them.

Dr. Cleveland said that although he still regards heart transplantation as "an investigational form of therapy for advanced heart disease," probably 20 to 25 new transplant attempts will be made during 1970 throughout the world. More than 150 have been performed to date in 20 countries by 58 surgical teams.

HE SAID an enormous amount of new information has been obtained about kidney function as a consequence of kidney-transplant procedures performed during the past several years. As a result, he thinks that "the spin-off" in additional heart knowledge may prove to be the greatest contribution of heart-transplant surgery.

AID TO CONSUMERS

Complaint Unit Seen

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

A federal trade lawyer told a Long Beach audience Friday the government plans to establish the equivalent of a one-stop consumer complaint service in the Los Angeles area within the next month or two.

Robert O'Brien, attorney in charge of the Los Angeles office of the Federal Trade Commission, told a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Elks Club that the service will rest on an informal arrangement between consumer representatives and the 30-odd public officials in the consumer protection field in this region.

The group will be called a consumer advisory board and will meet about once a month.

At the meetings, members will route the complaints they've received to the agencies best able to handle them, O'Brien said.

THE FEDERAL trade lawyer also indicated that efforts would be made to set up an effective referral system for more immediate actions.

The combined efforts of the board, he added, will reduce the present complexity of consumer protection activities.

O'Brien said not all complaints can be handled by any single agency. Some are best investigated by the police, others by regulatory agencies, and others by better business groups.

BUT THE FACT that the entire range of public and private organizations will periodically meet under a single roof should greatly facilitate the fight against fraud and deception, he said.

The local effort, which will be based in Los Angeles, will be part of a nationwide plan recently announced by Federal Trade Commission chairman Caspar W. Weinberger.

The national campaign will focus on the 11 metropolitan areas in which commission field offices are located, although O'Brien said he'll probably press for a separate board for Long Beach.

DR. DONALD ANTHROP PONDER'S POLLUTION
Says Public Action Needed Against Noise

L.B. Hobby Show Has Historic Bell

A 150-year-old bell, the strident tones of which warned Ohio residents of flood waters, is on display at the 21st annual Hobby Show, which runs through Sunday at the Long Beach Auditorium.

The bell is one of more than 500 in the collection of Mrs. Anna Maerki, 399 American Gold Star Homes. Mrs. Maerki is one of nearly 150 exhibitors at the show, which opened Thursday.

The show, sponsored by the city Recreation Department, is open to the public free of charge from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. today, and from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Entertainment, demonstrations and other events are featured at the show.

Dean to Run For Controller

John R. Dean, 49, a Garden Grove city councilman who heads the State Democratic Central Committee, will announce Monday that he will seek his party's nomination as state controller.

He set up a press conference at the Grand Hotel in Anaheim to announce his candidacy.

Dean probably will have opposition within his own party. Both Ronald Cameron and Herman Sillas have announced that they want the state controller's job.

Burglars took a calculating machine valued at $635 from the office of California Calculator Company, Inc., 5575 Atlantic Ave., police said Friday.

I, P-T Will Carry Pollution Series

An exclusive five-part series on pollution starts Sunday in your Independent Press-Telegram.

The series looks at the national situation as well as emphasizing state and local problems.

The articles have been written by contributing editor Gilbert Bailey, who has been added to our staff for his specialized ecology knowledge.

In addition to having worked for the San Jose Mercury-News, Sacramento Union and the magazine, Cry California, Bailey served with Congressman Don Edwards, D-Calif., as a legislative assistant.

L.B. Eligible for Crime Control Aid

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Long Beach is one of 13 California cities eligible for special crime control grants from the federal government, the California Council on Criminal Justice has announced.

The city has until May 1 to apply for a portion of $10 million available under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act, the council's information officer, Fred Baumberger, said.

U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said Long Beach is one of 112 cities throughout the nation eligible under a newly created discretionary grant program.

Long Beach qualifies because its population exceeds 250,000.

Grants will be awarded for programs aimed at reduction of crimes in the streets, improving police-community cooperation and understanding, improving misdemeanor court operation, innovating programs for juvenile offenders, combating narcotics and drugs usage, fighting organized crime, and improving the coordination of the various levels of law enforcement.

Awards of funds will be announced by June 30.

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Public Urged to Fight Noise

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

An aware public must bring pressure on noise producers ranging from toy manufacturers to local airports in the battle to save our ears, a California State College at Dominguez Hills professor says.

Dr. Donald F. Anthrop, a geography teacher, author of two major articles on noise pollution, says governments need to set noise standards and study future noise sources.

"A quieter society will only be achieved when a concerned public demands a new system of priorities from the politicians," he says.

Dr. Anthrop, whose articles have been reprinted twice in the Congressional Record, says noise encroachment has been slow but sure.

New sources are work-saving devices in industry, construction, and the home, cheaper and more closely packed thin-walled construction, and an assault of noisy toys.

THE RESULT IS A LEVEL of noise that actually causes hearing loss in human beings, he says.

"What has passed unnoticed," Dr. Anthrop says, "is that many noise levels in the community exceed standards found injurious in industry."

He cites studies which indicate that primitive peoples retain their hearing considerably longer than most urban peoples.

He notes several ways of reducing noise levels. Engine noise can be muffled, he says, and quieter engines can be developed. Expressways can be relocated away from dense population centers.

The internal combustion engine can be phased out, mass underground transit systems can transport goods and people, and a new high speed rail transportation could even be developed.

But public awareness is the key to action, Dr. Anthrop emphasizes.

He came to Dominguez Hills last year after working seven years in industry.

His paper, "Environmental Noise Pollution: A Threat To Sanity," appeared in the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists of May, 1969. The University of Toronto Law Journal printed another of his papers, "The Noise Crisis," in its January issue.

500 in Antilitter Walk

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

"Don't stamp out litter, pick it up."

With posters bearing that slogan, nearly 500 young people will walk a seven-mile route around Long Beach's Wilson High School today, picking up litter as they go.

"We're going to show people just how much trash they actually throw down," said 18-year-old Charla West, organizer of the walk.

According to Miss West, the nearly 50 persons "mostly high school or college people" — have confirmed their participation in the walk, which will start at noon from the corner of 10th Street and Park Avenue, and end at 3 p.m. in Recreation Park.

"A man from a beer company in Compton is donating the use of two of his big trucks to pick up tired walkers or help with trash carrying if someone's litter bag gets full," said Miss West.

"Although we'll be able to furnish a few, we want everyone to bring their own burlap bags or something to carry litter in," she added.

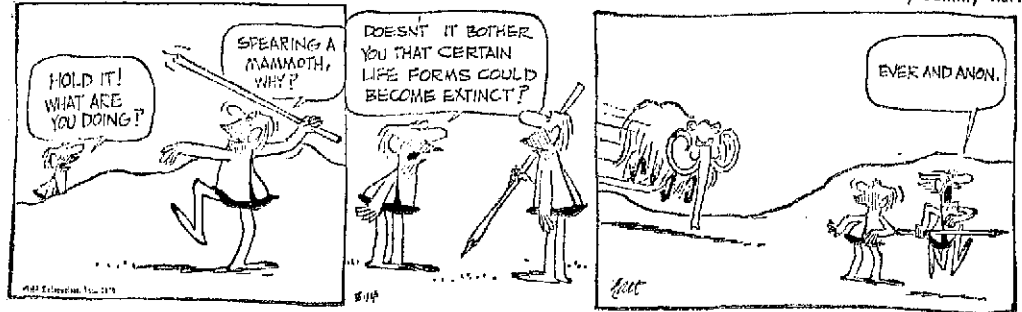

Trash collected by the walkers will be deposited in a pile at Recreation Park, under authorization of the city, and will then be disposed of by city trucks, she said.

After the first week of seeking antilitter walkers, Miss West and her co-chairman, Patty Renning, managed to muster 250 participants — all girls.

"But we fixed that," she said. "Some of us went on stage at a school assembly in shorts and brief tops, and told them about the walk. Now we've got quite a few boys."

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY

Your birthday today: The coming year finds you searching for a more direct path to success. Complicated questions now boil down primarily to a matter of how best to gain material rewards or more of them. Once an adequate income is available, other problems and ready solutions. You are more than likely going to find a great deal of assistance in your quest for a smoother path.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Today is fortunate for househunting. Family gatherings must be attended if you are to have peace amongst your relatives and relatives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Once you have taken your share in the community expression of faith, make the rounds to renew contact with friends and relatives.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Keep back all younger people around you. They may get into mischief. If you hear comments or news that you are not supposed to, it does not pay to react or reveal the story; there is more to learn.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Squabbling is pointless today -- you are simply not ready to see things as others see them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Expect unpredictable trends to shift a delightful surprise. Get on with it. Start and go on with it if you can.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If you are going to specialise something, do it directly and completely. Once you set out the course of the morning incident, offer in later others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your patience this Sunday with unsolicited advice is important. Knew of some friends who are in a shock. Others around you will accept help but not offer much in return; you must make it on your own now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Matters of self involvement should take first priority. Some people expect plans merely because you have shown a strong intention.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): It is your turn to prevail in competition, social rivalry. Heavens, don't let your adventure beyond need last. No trouble must that people are watching and could not the wrong impression.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Do your part to make this active day a pleasantly memorable one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Taking any time away from family and home life for business needs both the calm surface and the peace involved. Simply leave business for later, preferably Tuesday.

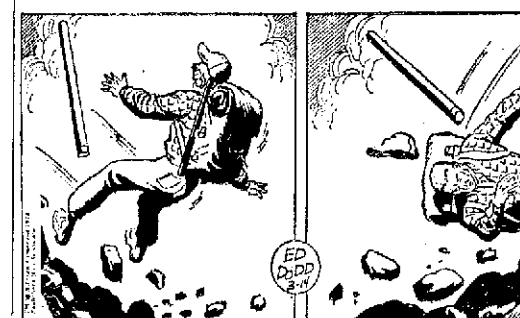

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): This Sunday should be a pleasant adventure in family and group activities. If you must, alone, have an hour of quiet contact among people your own age; and together with them.

BIBLE COMES TO LIFE

They All 'Dig' Israel, Archeologist Heaven

By LES RODNEY

Through the trip this scribble took with 35 other American newspaper, radio and TV men to become "instant experts" on Israel left little time for biblical-historical exploration, we did in our 8½ days get the strong feeling that this was indeed the land of the Bible.

Not to mention a nation of archeologists! Israeli schools would be lost without the Bible. It is woven throughout education—as an indispensable source book for the early history of the country.

The exciting thing to the school kids is that this is not dusty old textbook stuff about far away places. Remarkable discoveries are being made all the time as Israel builds new towns, brings the desert to life, and sinks its agricultural tools into long fallow soil containing the story of mankind's earliest history and its most dramatic event.

YOU'VE SEEN, or joined, "sidewalk superintendents" watching workmen down in the excavation for a large modern building. How about leaning on a little restraining fence at one end of the giant "Wailing Wall," remnant of Jerusalem's Great Temple, and watching folks down below slowly unearthing a city of stone dating back 2,000 years, layers below today's bustling Arab marketplace?

This fantastic dig was

Top Gospel Groups Here

Gospel Concerts will put on its final Municipal Auditorium concert of the season next Saturday, Mar. 21 at 7:30 p.m., featuring 1969's award winning combines.

On tap: The Imperials from Nashville, voted number one gospel quartet; the Speer Family, top mixed quartet combined male and female; the Latinos of Mexico City, the Blackwood Singers, Rosie Rozelle and the Searchers, of Atlanta, and the King's Three, a youth group.

begun by Hebrew University after the six day war. Before that the Wailing Wall, in violation of the armistice agreement of 1949, was kept by Jordan inaccessible to the Jews of Israel (the Christian and Moslem holy places in East Jerusalem were similarly not accessible to Christians and Moslems in Israel.)

We watched youthful volunteers—some from abroad, who must pledge to work at least three months—slowly and methodically cart away dirt and mud and debris in buckets. No blasting is permitted. You can see the mazes of alleys and passageways taking shape, with stone archways, part of the city which "disappeared" after the Romans destroyed the Great Herodian Temple in 70 A.D. and wrecked and plundered all Jewish property.

At the time we were in Jerusalem, the dig was deemed not safe enough to bring visitors into. A few days later, an AP group was carefully conducted through the emerging city.

Another promising dig is under way, also begun since the 1967 war, below Herod's Temple where Abraham traveled 3,000 years ago and King David built his capital about 70 years later.

NEAR THE almost intact Roman theater at Caesaria, we walked the walls and moats of a mighty Crusader fortress looking out over the Mediterranean. After a good rain in the area, men, women and kids can be seen digging for Maccaean coins, bronze age weapons, old Jewish pottery.

We found that every kibbutz has its own museum of artifacts uncovered during its prosaic agricultural digging.

Down below the Via Dolorosa in the basement of a Roman Catholic convent, a few of us chatting with the sisters stared in wonderment at an ancient "Game of Kings" faintly etched into the stone floor—the original level of the winding street where Jesus began his tortuous ascent with the cross on his back. The sense of time-spanning immediacy becomes overwhelming when you can actually bend down and run your finger along the stone.

At Qumran, we looked up a jagged hole in the mountain where a shepherd in 1948 trying to roust a stray sheep, hurled a stone, heard a strange clink, decided to take a look, and found an ancient vase with some faded parchments. A dealer in Jerusalem paid the equivalent $5 for them. The Dead Sea Scrolls.

The Army stumbles on its own finds. Just before the six day war, the Israelis were hastily digging a fortification 40 yards from the Syrian border near the Kibbutz Dan, where the tribe of Dan had once settled and where King Jeroboam commanded his Israelite subjects to worship a golden calf. They came across a Canaanite city wall, a tremendous edifice.

Defense or no, everything is cleared through the Dept. of Antiquities and Museums of the Ministry of Education and Culture, headed now by Avraham Biran. The Army fortifications were adjusted so as not to disturb the site. The dig, helped by some Americans, has also uncovered Mycenaean tombs, Roman fountains and Israelite sanctuaries.

IT HAPPENS all the time. Just last November, the phone company called Biran to report that workman putting a new line into Jerusalem suburb Romat Eshkol had dug into a cave containing a perfect ossuary—stone casket with ancient human bones. The phone work stopped pronto while archeologists took over.

Biran explains the Israeli excitement with archeology by asking where else a modern nation could explore its own past as far back into antiquity as the human mind can go.

"We can all relate what we find," he says, "to the story of our own destiny."

DEAD SEA Scrolls, valuable biblican find, were accidentally discovered by shepherd in cave high on hills (arrow) at Qumran in 1948 when a sheep strayed.

CHURCH HUMOR

"... and from thence we journey to the region of the Jordan in the land of Chanaan."

COCU Argument Over Property

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A struggle over church property rights emerged Friday as representatives of nine Protestant denominations worked to shape plans for a united church.

At issue was a clause allowing congregations to withdraw from the new church at any time during the first year of its operation and take their property with them. Methodist delegates, whose denomination retains congregational property titles in regional units, strongly objected to the provision that would temporarily release it.

FROM THE PULPIT

The Word of God is the most precious thing in the world. It instructs the lost, reclaims the wandering, comforts the bereaved, convicts the sinner, admonishes the Christian and opens the door of heaven to the dying.

How necessary that we rightly divide it and do not rationalize concerning it. When God's Word says, "... be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers" and further instructs us not to fellowship with those who deny the faith, then we have no alternative. We obey or we disobey. When God's Word says, "I will not permit a woman to teach nor usurp authority over the man," we do not have any alternative.

Think for a moment on these things: Women preachers? Never! Not according to God's Word. It is expressly forbidden! Ecumenical evangelism? Never! Not according to the Word!

Perversion of Scripture is a fatal sin. So is rationalization of God's explicit command.

Let the Word instruct you! God gave it for that purpose. Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

What Exactly Is Positive Thinking?

By Norman Vincent Peale

What is positive thinking? I think one of the best ways to describe it is: "tough-mindedness." It is refusing to be defeated, making the most of whatever you have to deal with in life. Thomas Carlyle, an apostle of tough-mindedness said, "Let each become all that he was created capable of being."

A few years ago I went to Ecclefechan, the little Scotch village where Carlyle was born, to see if I might find there something of the strength of mind and character he possessed. Carlyle was the son of a stone mason. He started off to Edinburgh for his education with a shilling in his pocket and he walked into immortality. He became all that he was capable of being because he would not accept defeat. I wonder if he was even aware of the word "can't."

Carlyle grew up in the little town of Ecclefechan between the Scottish border and the town of Dumfries. He loved Ecclefechan and Dumfries. He might have been buried in Westminster Abbey, but he preferred Ecclefechan.

QUEEN VICTORIA once happened to ask Thomas Carlyle what he considered the most beautiful road in Britain and he answered, "the road from Ecclefechan to Dumfries." The she asked what he considered the second most beautiful road and he answered, "Why, it's the road back to Ecclefechan." That was how he conveyed his love of Ecclefechan and Dumfries to Queen Victoria.

During my visit to Carlyle's home-town, I visited his grave and sat in the old graveyard reading some of his words. Carlyle's message came to me anew. "The essence of his message is this: Never give up. Never give in. Stand up to it and fight it through."

According to Carlyle, life asks of each of us a pretty straight question. "Will you be a hero, or will you be a coward?" It's just that direct and forthright.

The world is made up of two kinds of people, the "tough-minded" and the "tender-minded." The "tender-minded" are the ones who wilt under obstacles.

and difficulties. They are cut to the quick by criticism and easily lose heart. They are the ones who whine and consequently, fail. They think failure.

A close-up of one of the most successful men in America, who started with almost less than nothing, reveals that one of his most outstanding characteristics is that he never even so much as entertains the thought of failure in any undertaking. He is a "tough-minded individual."

Tough-minded individuals are people from all walks of life, the manual workers and the merchants, the mothers and the fathers, the teachers and the students. Whether young or old, they are the possessors of a strong element of toughness built into them. And this toughness is the inner power to stand up to a difficulty, to have what it takes to take it. A tough-minded individual has confidence and a zest for life, because he can throw himself into things. He enjoys his successes and accepts his failures, letting them guide him into new successes.

WHAT IS your philosophy? Are you actually a hero or a coward? Are you tough-minded or tender-minded? Not bad to test yourself on that one.

Believe in yourself. Believe in your life. Believe in people. Believe in your faith. Do these things and you will become a tough-minded positive thinker. If you know your own capacities and your own abilities, if you are undaunted and invincible in spirit, you will draw the best from whatever comes your way and you will contribute the best into whatever you plan and build. That is positive thinking and positive thinking gets positive results.

Russ Baptist Plea

LONDON (AP) — Russian Baptists have sent 33 letters and appeals to the West by various means in recent weeks charging Soviet authorities with persecuting them, the Church Times said Friday.

BRIEFLY . . . Lutheran Pastor in Congress?

A LUTHERAN clergyman from Brooklyn is challenging a 14-term member of Congress in the Democratic primary. Rev. Richard J. Neuhaus, 33-year-old pastor of St. John the Evangelist Lutheran Church, is running against incumbent John J. Rooney, and appears to have some youth and minority support.

Rooney has been regarded as a "hawk" while Neuhaus helped found Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, a national "dove" outfit.

On the sound principle that men should both work and pray for a cleaner environment, National Cathedral in Washington, D.C., has evolved a new order of worship called "A Liturgy for the Earth."

First used at a recent Sunday service in the giant Episcopal cathedral which overlooks the nation's capital from the top of its highest hill, the liturgy includes this confession said in unison by all members of the congregation:

"Lord God, we say here in your presence and before each other that we, both individually and collectively, have not been good stewards of your earth. We have fouled the air, spoiled the water, poisoned the land and by these acts have gravely hurt each other. We know now that this has and will cost us, and for these and all other sins we are truly sorry. Give us, we pray, the strength and guidance to undo what we have done and grant us inspiration for a new style of living."

Prayers during the service include this "Collect for Conservation":

"O God, who created the heavens and the earth, who has united man, animal and plants in a single evolution, grant to us a fresh vision of our dependence upon our environment for health and upon thee for salvation."

"Give us this day the wisdom and the will to cleanse our planet of pollution and our lives of sin."

"Grant us also the means and motivation for smaller families so that the resources of the earth be not bruised or exhausted."

The scripture readings and sermon develop the theme that the earth and its bounties are given to man in trust, to be used wisely, shared generously, and conserved for generations yet to come.

Since this is a profoundly biblical idea, there is no problem about finding appropriate texts. Hymns suitable for the occasion also are plentiful. The cathedral particularly favors a 19th century English hymn which begins:

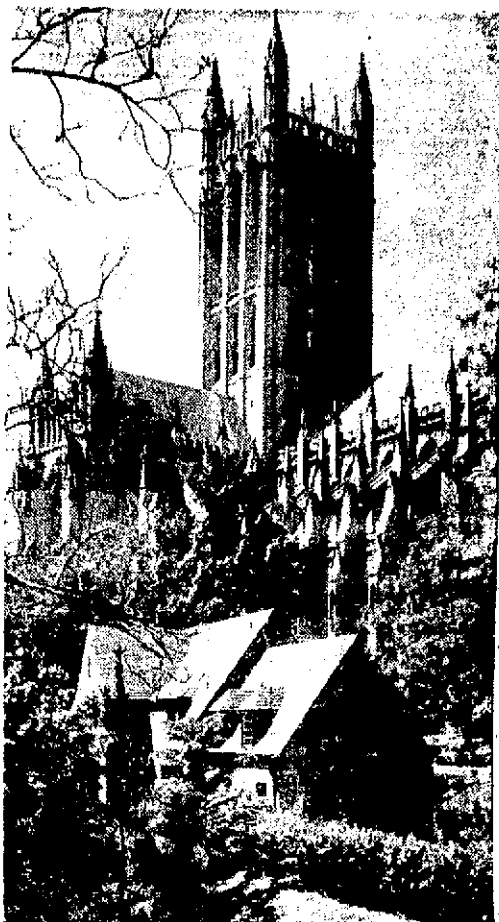

"For the beauty of the earth
"For the beauty of the skies
"For the love which from our birth
"Over and around us lies,
"Lord of all, to thee we raise
"This our hymn of grateful praise."

The liturgy concludes with this prayer of thanksgiving, said in unison by the entire congregation:

"O God, we thank you for all your gifts to us, our life, the good earth which you have given us, the air, water and food by which we live; we thank you also for your most holy word, and our communion with you by bread and wine this day."

"We humbly pray that you may guide us to restore to our planet beauty and a sound ecology, and to the family of man peace, justice and reconciliation."

The liturgy isn't copyrighted and National Cathedral's famous dean, the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., says he'll be delighted to have other churches across the country join in reminding Americans that pollution control is dictated not only by common prudence but also by reverence for God's creation.

FROM ITS commanding position in the nation's capital, historic National Cathedral leads way in putting churches into the fight on pollution with creative "Litany for the Earth." Famed shrine is visited each year by half million worshippers and tourists, is backed by volunteers in every state.

Leathernecks from the Fifth Marines' 28th Bri- gade, who won fame as defenders of Khe Sanh, will return from Vietnam Thursday at 10 a.m. for a full-scale welcome at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station. Gen. Leonard F. Chap- man Jr., commandant of the Marine Corps, will be planeside to greet 330 re- turnees. He will be joined by Lt. Gen. Henry W. Buse Jr., commanding general of Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, which moved its head- quarters from El Toro to Hawaii as fighting intensi- fied in southeast Asia. Regimental colors will be returned to Brig Gen. Ross T. Dwyer, commanding general of the Fifth Marine Expeditionary Bri- gade headquarters at Camp Pendleton. Pre-arrival ceremonies, including a concert by the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station band, will open at 9:30 a.m. The public is invited aboard the station east of Santa Ana for the wel- come-home c e r e m o n y, MCAS officials said... California Federal guarantees $1,236 a year on a $20,000 investment with absolute safety.

6% guaranteed interest is what we're talking about. A guaranteed annual yield of 6.18%. That means $1,236 a year on a $20,000 investment. And not only is interest guaranteed, but your principal is fully insured by an agency of the federal government. It's one of the world's safest investments.

Naturally, there are some conditions.

First of all, to qualify for California Federal's guaranteed 6% plan, the minimum deposit is $5,000. Second, you leave your money with us for a period of two years or more. Withdrawals are permitted at any time, however, with some loss of interest if withdrawn prior to maturity date.

Is it possible for a family to invest more than $20,000 and still have the principal amount fully insured?

By opening three separate accounts, a man and wife may have up to $60,000 fully insured.

What if you don't have $5,000?

California Federal has a wide variety of plans for invest- ments under $5,000. Interest ranges from 5% to 5.75%. One of them undoubtedly is ideally suited to your particular cir- cumstances.

Can you earn more than 6.18% yield?

Yes, you can earn 7.79% an- nual yield on $100,000 or more if left on deposit for 1 year or more. That amounts to $7,779.00 guaranteed interest on $100,000. And the 7.5% yearly interest rate is adjustable for terms shorter than one year.

Does any Savings and Loan Association in California, under any circumstances, pay a higher interest rate than California Federal?

No.

Do you have any other questions?

Call any of our offices in Los Angeles, Ventura or Orange Counties. Or stop in. We'll have the answers. Helping savers earn more money on their savings made us the nation's largest federal.

Millikan in CIF Title Final

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Staff Writer

Poise and patience enabled Millikan High to upset top-seeded and previously undefeated Santa Barbara, 66-53, Friday at the L.A. Sports Arena and gain tonight's CIF 4-A finals for the first time in the school's history.

It was a stunning performance for the Rams, a team which has gone unheralded throughout most of the season and now finds itself only one more victory away from the Southland championship.

In the second game before a crowd of 7,401 Monrovia pulled another surprise, upsetting Palos Verdes 53-52.

Despite losing their two tallest starters on fouls in the final 32 seconds, the Wildcats were able to hang on. Jan van Breda Kolff's shot at the buzzer could have won the game for PV, but it fell short.

Howard Lyon's well-disciplined Millikan club topped the Dons in every phase imaginable.

The Rams connected on more than 50 per cent of their field goals, sank 24 of 29 free throws and never trailed after 1:13 had elapsed in the second quarter.

"Have they been doing this all year?" losing coach Jack Triguera asked. "They are an exceptionally well functioning unit. It's hard to play catchup when you get as far behind as we were."

Santa Barbara keyed

much of its defense to stopping Richard Plante outside. It worked to some extent but also left guards Tony Martineck and Dan Peters open all night.

Peters responded with a season high 22 points and Martineck 14 — the most in his last 14 games.

During one six minute span in the second quarter Millikan hit all six of its field attempts to increase a three point lead (14-11) to 11 points.

Santa Barbara never could recover.

The advantage rose to as many as 15 points (40-25) early in the third quarter.

Vikings Trounce Hornets

"Defensively, that's as close to a perfect game as any team can play."

That was coach Lute Olson's reaction to Long Beach City College's 73-50 semifinal round win over Fullerton to sweep into the final game of the state basketball tournament against Compton, the state's No. 1 rated team.

The Vikings, rated No. 2, had little trouble with the outclassed Hornets to set up the rating dream game between California's top two teams, as Compton whipped L.A. City, 92-73, in its semifinal contest.

"This is what we've been playing for all year long," Olson said of tonight's showdown. "And second best is not what we're after."

The Vikings, led by Mike Owens' 21-rebound effort and Chuck Terry's 17 points in less than 20 minutes of play, completely dominated the Hornets, who still have a chance to salvage third place against San Joaquin Delta plays City College of San Francisco for the consolation title at 5. The Mustangs dropped Hartnell, 99-94, and CCSF eliminated gunning Contra Costa, 74-69.

Owens outjumped 6-9 Jerry Brucks for most of his rebounds in his second great effort in as many nights. Thursday he pulled down 18 missed shots over 6-11 Ron Eleby of Hartnell.

Terry was pulled at the 14-minute mark of the second half as the Vikings held a 20-point lead, 49-29. "We took him out with the full intent if we needed him, we would put him back in," Olson explained.

But the state's player of the year wasn't needed as the reserve Vikings and Owens, who added 13 points, held the Hornets at bay.

Freshman Gary Anderson, LBCC's key No. 6 man, tied Terry for high-point honors with 17 on a 7-of-8 effort from the field, and S.L. Neal, a defensive standout, canned 14 without hitting the rim once.

Brucks was in foul trouble early, but it didn't make much difference because he wasn't doing any damage to the smooth Viking ball handlers.

Guard Craig Childress, with 11 points, was the only Hornet in double figures as FIC had to hustle against the Vikings reserves to reach the 50-point plateau.

The Vikings made Fullerton play the LBCC game and the Hornets couldn't.

Utah St. No Threat, Bruins Look East

SEATTLE — Utah State's basketball team filed into a dining room at a Seattle Hotel late Friday afternoon.

"The condemned men ate a hearty last meal," an observer quipped.

In a few words, the fate of Aggies was described very aptly.

Except for a few venturesome types, the betting is solid (14 points) that UCLA will execute the Aggies this afternoon in the championship game of the NCAA Western Regional basketball tournament at Edmundson Pavilion.

The title game will be telecast by Ch. 4 at 3.

The Bruins' 88-65 victory over Cal State Long Beach Thursday night removed any doubt about their credentials.

Barring an upset of staggering proportions, they are on their way to College Park, Md., for a try at their 6th national title in seven years.

UCLA now has won 21 consecutive NCAA tournament games and never was it more awesome this season than Thursday night against the 49ers.

"I never dreamed we could beat Cal State Long Beach by such a score," confessed Bruin coach John Wooden Friday. "I have to give our defense credit. We probably were more active on defense than in any game this season."

It was noted that Wooden had kept his regulars in the game until the final two minutes.

"I had to," explained the UCLA coach. "Ordinarily I might have put the reserves in. But we had only a 14-point lead with five minutes remaining and Long Beach is the type of team that can explode on you."

That the Bruins are capable of exploding offensively was pointed out by Utah State coach LaDell Anderson at a press conference Friday.

The reporters reminded Anderson that UCLA's front line of Sidney Wicks, Steve Patterson and Curtis Rowe might be more imposing than any trio the Aggies have faced in recording 22 victories in 28 games.

"If you are trying to tell me we are in trouble, I already know that," laughed Anderson.

The Aggies' front line of Nate Williams, Marv Roberts and Tim Tollestrup has averaged 55.5 points per game, five more than the Wicks-Patterson-Rowe combination.

But there are other factors to be considered. The Bruin front line has more rebounding and defensive ability than Utah State's big three.

'NOT INTERESTED' Tarkanian Eyed by Eager Beavers

By JIM McCORMACK

SEATTLE — Rumors persisted Friday that Cal State Long Beach's Jerry Tarkanian is a prime candidate to replace retired Paul Valenti as basketball coach at Oregon State.

OSU athletic director Jim Barrett started screening the 56 applicants.

Oregon State plans to interview everyone who applies and then invite five or six to visit the campus and meet with the Athletic Board of Control.

This newspaper has learned that Tarkanian will be one of those invited even though he has not applied for the job.

"I'm not interested in leaving Long Beach," Tarkanian said Friday. "I won't apply for any job."

"But if they come to me and have something to offer, in the area of better salary, for instance, I'd have to listen."

Barrett has not contacted Tarkanian, other than to introduce himself prior to Thursday night's game, and probably won't meet with the 49er coach until next week during the national tournament in College Park, Md.

Barrett and many other veteran observers were impressed by the way Tarkanian had his team go all-out in a Thursday night attempt to beat UCLA.

By staying in a conservative zone defense, Tarkanian could have kept the game reasonably close, within 10 or 12 points.

However, he used every defense he had available in an attempt to get back in the game.

"We needed every break in the world to beat UCLA," explained Tarkanian, "and we didn't get any."

"They did exactly what we wanted them to do when the game began — take outside shots — but they were hitting them and we were really in trouble."

"I think once the game began, our kids were scared. We lost our poise on offense and took too many bad shots."

"I was really surprised that UCLA's defense was so effective. They completely took us out of our game."

ALTHOUGH THE 88-65 defeat was crushing to Tarkanian and his team, most observers felt it was simply a matter of UCLA being such an outstanding team and not that the 49ers had been bad.

"I really feel sorry for the kids," said Tarkanian. "They all wanted this so bad. Then, some of them had poor games. It was a real blow to them. I thought Sam (Robinson), Shawn (Johnson) and Art (Montgomery) were the only ones that really played well for us."

The UCLA game, however, is a matter of history. How Tarkanian reacts to the coaching offers he is sure to receive in the approaching months is part of the future — his and that of the Cal State basketball program.

West Leads Laker Romp

By DOUG IVES

Jerry West does not expect to be voted the most valuable player in the NBA, but he continues to do things that no other man in the league has done.

The veteran guard pumped in 43 points, fed off for 11 assists and played stellar defense Friday night to spark the Lakers to a 128-117 victory over Philadelphia before 17,043 fans at the Forum.

It marked the 12th time in 70 games that West has scored 40 or more points in a game. With a 31.2 average, he is assured of his first scoring title ever.

Coach Joe Mullaney expressed how valuable West is when he said, "Without him, we'd be in last place."

West voted for Lew Alcindor as the league's MVP, but there is a strong feeling that the award will go to New York's Willis Reed.

"Reed's a fine player, but how can anyone say that a player has done more to improve his team than Alcindor?" said West. "Milwaukee has gone from last place to second."

West, who wasn't allowed to vote for himself, will know his fate on Wednesday or Thursday. If he doesn't win it, he says he will be disappointed but not upset.

"I don't expect to win it," he said, "but I'd be a fool to say I don't want it."

Privately, West has said he wants this second only to an NBA title.

SEATTLE ATTORNEY BARS PILOTS' MOVE

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle attorney who said he was "just one of many outraged persons" won a temporary restraining order in Superior Court Friday barring the American League from relocating the Seattle Pilots baseball franchise.

The order was issued by Judge Warren Chan at the request of attorney Alfred J. Schweppe. The owners of the Pilots were ordered to show cause Thursday morning why a temporary injunction should not replace the restraining order.

"The American Baseball League has shown that its announcement cannot be trusted," Schweppe said in an affidavit in support of his request.

Schweppe contended he would suffer damages if the team were moved away from Seattle because he already had purchased two season tickets and parking privileges at Sicks' Stadium.

MORE RODEO TODAY, TONIGHT

8 Seconds Is a Lot of Bull

Pro rodeo's top cowboys shoot for more dollars this afternoon and evening as the Pacific Indoor Rodeo heads into the second go-round at the Long Beach Arena.

Many of the past and current world champions will contest at the second and third performances beginning at 2 and 8 o'clock.

Friday night's opening crowd of 5,103 cheered as Dick Loeber of Lemon Grove, Calif., grabbed the lead in the always-popular bull riding event.

Loeber managed to stay aboard the leaping "One-Eyed Jack" the required 8 seconds while scoring 74 points. The instant the buzzer sounded Loeber was flattened by the ugly critter, but he sustained only a bruised back.

Moments later Tom Shelby of Fresno was stepped on by "Bad Un" and required medical attention for a bruised shoulder.

Only four of the eight bull riders managed to stay on their hump-backed mounts.

Mike Hutchins, a rookie cowboy from Raymond, Calif., scored 68 points to take the lead in the bareback bronc competition. Hutchins drew the cowboys' darlings of the rodeo circuit, "Cheyenne."

C. R. Jones of Santee, Calif., bulldogged his steer in 6.6 for the night's quickest time.

Jerry Hixon of River Bank, Calif., gained a one-point lead in saddle bronc contesting, marking 67 on "Nobody's Darling." John Holemon of Kaycee, Wyo., scored 66 aboard "Heaven Bound."

Terry Jensen of Chino had the quickest time in calf roping, 13.0.

Mike Quick of Hemet and Dan Branco from Chowchilla gained the lead in team roping with a best time of 9.4.

In the girls' barrel races, Diane Morris of Hemet was clocked in 15.9

George Lewis, Protano and Plenty Old will go to-day in the San Felipe Handicap which points to the Santa Anita Derby, in turn, a major signpost to Louisville and the Kentucky Derby.

The trio was among 18 3-year-olds entered Friday for the 1 1/4-mile San Felipe.

Felipe at Santa Anita, causing the race to be split in two nine-horse, $40,000-added divisions. The Santa Anita Derby March 28 is 1 1/4 miles and the Kentucky Derby May 2 is 1 1/4 miles.

Other stakes on tap are the $75,000-guaranteed New Orleans Handicap at the Fairgrounds, the $35,000-added Canadian Turf

Handicap at Hialeah, the $25,000-added Paumonok Handicap at Aqueduct and the $27,500-added Challenged Stakes for Maryland-bred 3-year-olds at Pimlico.

W.S. Farish III's Royal Comedian has the high weight of 122 pounds among the 10 entered for the 1 1/4-mile New Orleans Handicap.

Prevailing, 114, Great Cohoes, top-weighted at 119, and Eaglesham, 116, head a field of 11 set for the Canadian Turf Handicap over 1 1/4 miles on the grass.

William T. Pasco III's Gaelic Dancer, first in all seven of his career starts but disqualified to second on 128 pounds and the early favorite for the six-furlong Paumonok. His chief competitor among eight rivals appears to be Calumet Farm's Best Turn.

Robin's Bug, winner of the Prince George's Stakes by eight lengths at Bowie last Saturday, is the early choice for the 1 1/4-mile Challenged.

Charles Englehard's Protano and Rex Ellsworth's Plenty Old are co-high-weighted at 117 pounds for the first division of the San Felipe.

George Lewis, owned by Alan Magerman, tops the second-division weights at 122.

George Lewis, Protano and Plenty Old have been nominated for the Kentucky Derby.

WEEK'S TRANSACTIONS

Friday's Quotations

Long Beach, Calif., Sat., March 14, 1975

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM-C-7

NAME: _____

NEW YORK (AP) —

By HOWARD LUXENBERG

The stock market performed lethargically the past week as investors waited for concrete evidence that credit would be eased.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rumors and hope of monetary ease lost force as a stock market stimulant this week and prices turned lower in some of the slowest trading of the year.

The market decline that started Thursday, March 5, continued uninterrupted through the past Friday.

Roy L. Reiersen, chief economist for Bankers Trust Co., said a cut in the prime interest rate — that charges big corporations — is months, not weeks away. Much of the recent optimism on Wall Street had stemmed from a prime rate reduction by some small banks and the hope that large institutions would follow suit.

Volume was unusually light the past week. In no session did Big Board trading exceed the 10-million share level. On Thursday, volume declined to 2.1 million shares, the lowest level since Jan. 12.

prime rate reduction by some small banks and the hope that large institutions would follow suit.

"Market interest is at a very low ebb because investors are waiting for some tangible evidence that the key lending rate is coming down," Newton Zinder, analyst for E. F. Hutton & Co., said.

Glamor issues were among the casualties of the past week's decline. Disappointing earnings were considered the reason for the lackluster performance of the glamors, some analysts said that the market could not make strong advance until the glamors went through a correction. When the price-earnings ratios of the glamors declines far enough, the market will strengthen, analysts said.

"Until Wall Street is convinced credit is easing, the market is going to be virtually trendless," Herman Roseman, vice president of Argus Research Corp., an investment advisory service, said.

Lucian Hooper of W. E. Hutton said the list in general was in a tiresome period — "in between a bear market and a bull market" — with a little incentive to buy securities.

"In a sense the market was in a twilight zone, hunting around and waiting for a trend," commented Monte Gordon of Bache & Co.

Losses for the week among glamors included Xerox, off 3½ at 90¾; Burroughs, off 14¾ at 31¼; Itek, off 9¾ at 61½; Telex, off 14¾ at 113½; Mowhawk Data, off 4¼ at 60¾; and IBM, off 1 at 324¼.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials declined 2.01 at 772.11 for the week. The Associated Press 60-stock average slipped 5.5 to 273.3. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks declined 1.02 to 80.02. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was off 1.53 at 87.86.

[illegible]

Of the 1,750 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange the past week, 153 declined, and 465 advanced. New 1969-70 lows were reached by 94 issues while highs were hit by 11 stocks.

[illegible]

Among the week's 20 most-active issues, 13 declined, six advanced and one was unchanged. The five most-active issues on the New York Stock Exchange were: Jersey Standard, up 1½ at 44½; Kresge, up ½ at 14½; Zapata Norcross, off 7 at 22¾; Roan Selection Trust, off 1 at 6¾; and American Telephone, up ¾ at 52½.

[illegible]

Kresge had reported that its earnings for fiscal 1970 would be lower than analysts had expected. The five most-active issues on the American Stock Exchange were Transif Class A convertible preferred, off ½ at 4½; Ling-Temco-Vought warrants, up ½ at 6½; Ecological Society, off 3% at 18½; Sequoyah Industries, off ¾ at 5½; and British Petroleum, up ¼ at 11½.

Herb Baldwin, president of VILLA FORD, brings the entire staff of Plaza Motors to make sure that the new Ford dealership will function smoothly from the beginning. At VILLA FORD, Herb Baldwin expands to a 6-acre, handsome new Ford dealership that features domestic Ford cars and trucks as well as imported Cortina Fords. You'll find the finest trained staff for sales, parts, service and body shop as well as the most modern equipment to serve you better. WHAT'S IMPORTANT TO YOU? AFTER SALES SERVICE? IT'S IMPORTANT TO US TOO!

All of our old friends are especially invited this weekend to view our handsome new facilities. Our heartfelt thanks for your 14 years support at PLAZA MOTORS in Bellflower.
